

Theology Courses

Faith in Conflict

This course presents the historical and theological roots of one of the world's longest running conflicts, the Troubles of Northern Ireland, with attention to how a community of faith helped build peace and pursue reconciliation in that region.

Gun Violence in America: A Christian Response

This course offers an introduction to the history American gun culture, examining both the theology that has enabled the relationship to flourish, and theologies of dissent.

Howard Thurman: Spirituality and Community

This 5-week course explores the writings and ministry of Howard Thurman, focusing especially on the meaning of personal commitment and social transformation as they relate to Christian discipleship.

Christianity in Asian-American History

This course provides an overview of the presence and influence of Christianity in Asian American history.

The Doctrine of the Trinity

This course will review the history and development of the trinitarian doctrine, its content, significance for the Christian faith, and how it can be explained without any reference to three-leaf clovers.

The Temple and the Wilderness

In this course, you will explore how in the Book of Acts the Holy Spirit uses and transforms space in order to spread the church over the whole world, and how this work might change the way in which you imagine and participate in sacred spaces today.

Let's Talk about Immigration

Drawing on sources ranging from the news and novels to scripture and the arts, this course explores various theological, moral, and socio-economic perspectives on the present state of immigration in the US, including how local faith communities might respond.

Spirituality and Health

This course explores how faith and religious practices impact our physical, mental, and social well-being and what it means to understand salvation more wholistically.