SUMMARY

A former engineer and consultant turned actor and performer. Typical journey, right? My career started by accident when I helped a friend audition for a show at Improv Asylum; despite being untrained, I wound up getting casted and performed for over 1.5 years. After starring in an indie short that won a small New England film festival, I was signed by my current agency, Model Club. In less than 1-year as an official working actor, I have landed lead roles for numerous independent films as well as featured extra/stand-in roles for an Apple Studios' television show and feature film. My training in Meisner, Adler, singing and dance is an effort to be as well-rounded of an actor as possible. Now, NYC has practically become my home base as I star in a theater production apart of NYC Fringe Festival 2026 and an upcoming indie feature film. I continue to prove myself in this industry and will never rest in doing so... I became an actor because everyday reality was not enough for me.
