Restaurant and food news

Bev's Bagels coming to Detroit: Chef Max Sussman is bringing his Bev's Bagels concept to a permanent space in the Core City/Woodbridge area in late spring. This will be neighbors with the Mother Loaf bakery; both businesses are where the Detroit Institute of Bagels used to be. Bev's Bagels, which have been enjoyed as a pop-up business in Ann Arbor, include organic sourdough bagels, bagel sandwiches with smoked salmon, creative schmears and other ethically sourced ingredients. Coming soon to 4884 Grand River, Unit 1B in Detroit.

New cafe to open at Cambria Detroit Hotel: A.M. Buzz is set to open inside this downtown Detroit hotel this spring with coffee drinks featuring Michigan-roasted coffee plus breakfast and lunch cuisine. The cafe's name is a nod to the building's former use as the home to WWJ-AM radio station. "The space pays homage to the building's radio past and features a vibrant cheerful colors in a welcoming atmosphere," said co-owner Christopher Kouza in a press release. It's set to open this spring at 600 W. Lafayette, Detroit. Ambuzzdetroit.com.

Malik Beasley meal at Savvy Sliders: In partnership with Detroit Pistons shooting guard Malik Beasley, Savvy Sliders has launched a "Shimmy Meal" featuring three chicken fingers dipped in boom sauce, fries, Texas toast and a soft drink. The meal launched last weekend and is available at all Michigan Savvy Sliders restaurants for a limited time. Visit savvysliders.com for locations.

Hudsonville Ice Cream drops new flavors: This Holland-based company has dropped a flurry of new products including three new flavors available year round: mint deer traxx, coffee chip and peach cobbler. Hudsonville has also come out with a Traverse City cheery fudge ice cream bar and a brownie batter cookie dough ice cream bar. Also look for the limited edition tropical twist sherbert, a blend of orange, strawberry and mango. Visit hudsonvilleicecream.com.
