THE CHALLENGE OF A NEW TIME

It was a year of ambition, growth, and success, a year in which the whole world learned to live differently and look in wider directions. It was a year in which our clients did not actually make plans for projects, and the conjunction "if" was the most frequently used word. But no matter what, we continue to move forward, create insanely gorgeous projects, develop our expertise, and set new goals. Let's take a journey together with a look at our 2021 results.

A GOLDEN TEAM

We don't just focus on improving our performance. The growth of our team is also extremely important for us. We are proud when artists become team-leaders and art directors, when our C-level is formed from the junior staff. We are proud when a team rotates people between departments, so that everyone can find their perfect fit in our company. And we would like to mention three outstanding artists who have influenced the style and vision of our studio and have moved to a new stage at Omega.

THE RECIPE FOR THE PERFECT TEAM

I would like to share with you the recipe for the perfect team. It will allow you to forget that though we are thousands of kilometers apart, we are always on the same page. First, let's take a huge unstoppable energy and, please, do not worry about the quantity. The more energy you give, the more will come back to you. You will also need love for your work and for the people on your team. We add drive - it is needed to maintain the pace and rhythm of all projects. Then take the best manager who will coordinate the work. Of course, everything is much more complicated, but even with one component, everything will become much better. I was lucky enough to collect everything for our dream team.

HEART AND SOUL

I recently remembered my father's words: whatever you do, give it all of your heart and soul. And I share his opinion. The love of the work creates a new meaning. Thanks to this, I have an endless stream of emotions towards each project. And the most amazing thing is that the whole team works this way - everyone works with dedication, so we run like clockwork. We give each other support, and in case of difficulties, we always know someone will lend a helping hand.

THE THINGS THAT REALLY MATTER

Over the past 5 years, Omega has come a long way from a small studio with a couple of people to one of the most powerful 3D production agencies in Europe and North America. And among the things that have really mattered along the way has the special team spirit that has been preserved and nourished us from day to day. And this very spirit allows us to count the results not in working hours but in final renderings, creating a special atmosphere of unity and building trust within the team and beyond.

THE OPPORTUNITY TO INSPIRE AND BE INSPIRED

Work as a part of a team of interesting, talented people with whom you are on the same page. The opportunity to inspire and be inspired. The joy of a positive reaction to the result of their work. And the understanding that these projects will be embodied in real life. All this awakens pride in my work.

With each new project, the team becomes more cohesive, and this makes it possible to understand each other at a glance and to work more efficiently.

Omega are the people who make you better, not only as a specialist, but also as a person.

OPPORTUNITIES THAT HELP US ACHIEVE OUR FULL POTENTIAL

One of these opportunities is working with architectural concepts, which allows our team to go back to basics - after all, most of our team are architects and designers. Moreover, we can work in absolute freedom and carry out any experiments not only with form, but also with environment and mood.

This time, we create a concept and renderings for a gated community village in the untouched territory of the island of Bali.

It was important for us to create an atmosphere reflecting unity of man and nature. The harmony recreated in architecture by man does not overshadow the primal harmony of nature. We achieved this through the architecture of simple geometric shapes. Looking at this marvelous multi-functional residential complex, you will start to notice the feeling of untouched nature and minimal human intervention in the environment, although from the aerial image we see that the village has all the available infrastructure.
