

OVERVIEW FOR DISABILITY SERVICES PROFESSIONALS

WHAT IS EQUAL EDGE

Equal Edge is a planning and scheduling app built for college students who think and work differently. It gives students one place to manage their schedule, break down assignments, stay on top of deadlines, and track how they actually spend their time across a semester.

WHY IT EXISTS

Neurodivergent students often know what they need to do. The harder part is the organizational layer: keeping everything from slipping, understanding how long tasks really take, and not having to rebuild the system from scratch every semester.

Disability services offices are often where students who may benefit most are already turning for support. Your perspective helps us reach those students, and their feedback helps us build something that actually works for them.

WHO CAN PARTICIPATE

Any student your office refers. Students do not need a formal diagnosis. Participation is opt-in, free, and completely separate from a student's academic and disability services record. Sign-up takes under two minutes with a school email address.

YOUR ROLE

Your office introduces Equal Edge to students using the flyer we provide. Beyond that, Equal Edge handles all student support directly.

If your school chooses to participate in our pilot program through an MOU, you will receive regular aggregate engagement reports from Equal Edge to help identify broader engagement patterns and inform how you support students. Your office will not have access to individual students' session content, tasks, notes, or other personal planning information.

STUDENT AMBASSADOR PROGRAM

Students who create an Equal Edge account can also choose to join our optional Student Ambassador Program.

Ambassadors help shape the future of Equal Edge by sharing feedback, completing activities, and spreading the word on campus in ways that feel right for them. Along the way, they earn points that can be redeemed for rewards.

For your office, there's nothing additional to manage. Simply encourage students to explore the Student Ambassador Program after creating their account. Equal Edge handles onboarding, activities, rewards, and all ongoing communication.

WHAT STUDENTS CAN DO IN EQUAL EDGE

Import their class schedules

Students import an ICS file or link from Canvas, Google Calendar, Outlook, or their LMS, bringing academic, work, sports, social, and other calendars into one unified view. Their full semester schedule populates in minutes, with no manual re-entry.

Upload their syllabi

Students store all their syllabi in one place and open them within the app whenever they need a reference. AI-assisted deadline extraction is in development; for now, syllabi are reference documents.

Plan and track their time

Students can use Equal Edge to break assignments into smaller steps and use generated time estimates for each step, helping to overcome task initiation challenges, build time awareness, and track ongoing work visually with a progress tracker that shows how much work is left at a glance.

Coming soon

The Equal Edge Repair Loop

Reflect on the previous week, carry over unfinished tasks, and plan for the upcoming week to maintain productivity and control.

Utilize focus timers

Use a built-in timer during study sessions. Over time, they build a realistic picture of how long their work actually takes.

Build skills for college and beyond

The Grow section supports personal growth and skill-building through short lessons, reflective tools, and check-ins that help students strengthen executive functioning and personal skills and discover strategies that work for them.

SEND STUDENTS TO EQUAL EDGE WITH QUESTIONS

- Any technical issue or app question. We own all student-level support.
- Questions about data, privacy, or what Equal Edge tracks.
- A student asking about a feature that is not live yet.
- A student struggling to get started. We have onboarding support.
