

Smart Kids, not Smartphones!

The Parent Pact

A voluntary Pact for a smartphone-free environment for your child. By signing the Pact, you are sending a clear signal to be part of a growing community of families who consciously choose the following to protect their child:

- to wait until their child is around 14 years old (~8th grade) before he/she receives their own smartphone and/or
- to wait until their child is around 16 years old before he/she is allowed to create his/her own social media accounts.

Find like-minded people

Make a statement against early use of own devices by children and teenagers.

Not anti-tech, but pro-childhood.

Once five parents from the same class have signed the Pact, we will connect you via email. This creates local networks of like-minded people who support each other.

Set an example

Until children and young people are effectively protected on the internet, it is up to us parents to protect them online.

Networking protects against exclusion. Together we stand up to the peer pressure placed on our children and on us parents.
