Tentacle of the Deep lets you summon a spectral tentacle that strikes at foes, reducing their speed and dealing cold damage on hit. ========== When learning warlock spells, The Fathomless provides access to an expanded list of options. This includes Tentacle of the Deep, which can be used as a bonus action to create a 10-foot-long spectral tentacle within 60 feet of you. You are a spellcaster who has entered into a pact with an otherworldly being. At 1st level, you have chosen your patron, and they grant you features such as hit points, armor proficiency, and spells known. ========== At higher levels, you gain additional warlock features such as more cantrips, spell slots, and abilities that allow you to channel radiant or fire damage against enemies. ========== The Eldritch Invocations table lists all the invocations that you can learn at each warlock level. At 2nd level, you gain two eldritch invocations and you can choose them from the list. When you reach certain levels, you have more options. At 5th level, you gain three additional eldritch invocations of your choice. If you reach 11th level, you get four new ones. The Pact of the Blade feature lets you make a pact weapon in one hand and you can change its form each time you do it. The pact counts as magic for things like overcoming resistance or immunity from non-magical attacks. It disappears after a minute if it's not in your line of sight, or when you use this ability again, when you dismiss it, or when you die. The Pact of the Chain lets you learn the find familiar spell and cast it as a ritual. You can choose one of the normal forms for your familiar or one of four special forms: imp, pseudodragon, quasit, or sprite. When you take the Attack action, you can give up one of your own attacks so that your familiar makes one with its reaction. The Pact of the Tome lets you gain a book called Book of Shadows and you get three cantrips from any class's spell list to add to it. While the book is with you, you can cast those cantrips at will. If you lose the book, you can have it replaced by performing a 1-hour ceremony. The Pact of the Talisman lets you gain an amulet that can help you when you need it most. When you fail an ability check, you can add d4 to the roll and turn it into success. You get this benefit as many times as your proficiency bonus but all used benefits come back when you finish a long rest. If you have a Seeker Patron, you gain the Pact of the Star Chain feature at 17th level.Forged from starlight, the Star Chain is a powerful artifact that glows with seven gleamin motes of brightness. While it is attached to you, you have acces to the Seeker's power and can cast the augury spell as a ritual without usin up one of your spells known. You also gain advntage on Inteliigence checks while carryin this item. However, once you use this abiltiy, you cannot us it again until you complete a short or long rest. Losing the Star Chain means you have to perfom a 1-hour ceramony to get a new one from the Seeker. This ceremomy can be done durin a short or long rest and destroies the previos chain. The chain disaprears in a flash of light when you die. The Star Chain is inspired by the Greyhawk deity Celestian. Its abiltiy score improvment feature allows you to increase one ability score by 2, or two by 1, at levels 4, 8, 12, and 19. You can also do a special change in your occult studies when you reach certain levels. At level 11, your patron gives you a magical secret called an arcanum. You can cast this spell once without usin up a spell slot after a long rest. As you gain more levels, you get to choose more spells from the warlock list to cast in this way. Finally, at level 20, you become Eldritch Master and can draw on your inner reserve of mystikal power while entrating your patron to regain expended spell slots. You can spend 1 minute entreating your patron for aid to regain all your expended spell slots from your Pact Magic feature after a long rest. the Warlock's Magical Arsenal ========== The Warlock table is the cornerstone of your warlock class, outlining the number and level of spell slots available for casting warlock spells from 1st to 5th level. Notably, all spell slots are of the same level, which simplifies the process of selecting spells to cast. To utilize your warlock spells, you must expend a spell slot. Fortunately, when you complete a short or long rest, you regain all expended spell slots, allowing you to replenish your magical reserves. At 1st level, you are privy to two 1st-level spells from the warlock spell list. The Spells Known column of the Warlock table indicates when you can acquire additional warlock spells, with a restriction that any chosen spell must not exceed the level shown in the Slot Level column for your current level. As you ascend through the levels, you unlock new opportunities to expand your magical repertoire. At 6th level, for instance, you gain access to higher-level spells and have the option to replace one of your existing warlock spells with a new one from the spell list, provided it meets the prerequisites. Charisma serves as your primary spellcasting ability, influencing both the Spell save DC and attack roll outcomes. When casting warlock spells, your Charisma modifier is applied to determine these effects. The Eldritch Invocations grant you an array of arcane abilities, with two being chosen at 2nd level. Additional invocations are unlocked through specific warlock levels, as denoted by the Invocations Known column. You also have the opportunity to replace one invocation with a new one when gaining a level in this class. Your Pact Boon offers several choices, including the creation of a pact weapon. When activated, this feature allows you to craft a melee weapon from your empty hand, selecting its form each time it is created. This magical companion counts as enchanted for overcoming resistance and immunity to nonmagical attacks, vanishing if more than 5 feet away for extended periods or when dismissed. Lastly, the Pact of the Chain grants access to the find familiar spell, which can be cast as a ritual without impacting your number of spells known. When casting this spell, you may choose one familiar creature to accompany and aid you in combat.Pact Magic for Warlocks: Unlocking the Mysteries of the Arcane ========== When it comes to choosing a familiar, warlocks have several options available, including imp, pseudodragon, quasit, or sprite. Furthermore, when taking the Attack action, you can relinquish one of your own attacks in order to allow your familiar to make a single attack using its reaction ability. The Power of Pact of the Tome Your patron presents you with a Book of Shadows, which serves as a grimoire that holds three chosen cantrips from any class's spell list. These cantrips may be from the same or different lists, and they do not count against your number of known spells. If they are not listed on the warlock spell list, they are still warlock spells for you to cast at will. The Amulet of Pact of the Talisman Your patron gifts you an amulet that can aid the wearer in times of need. When you fail an ability check, you may add a d4 to the roll, potentially turning it into a success. This benefit can be utilized a number of times equal to your proficiency bonus, and all expended uses are restored when you finish a long rest. The Seeker's Star Chain As a Seeker patron, you are granted a chain forged from starlight adorned with seven gleaming motes of brightness. While the chain is on your person, you know the augury spell and can cast it as a ritual. You also gain advantage on an Intelligence check while carrying this item, but this ability cannot be used again until you complete a short or long rest. Ability Score Improvement At 4th level, 8th level, 12th level, 16th level, and 19th level, you can increase one ability score of your choice by 2 or two ability scores by 1. As usual, you cannot exceed an ability score above 20 using this feature. Eldritch Versatility Whenever you reach a level in this class that grants the Ability Score Improvement feature, you may replace one cantrip with another from the warlock spell list, or swap one option for the Pact Boon feature with another. If you are 12th level or higher, you may also replace one spell from your Mystic Arcanum feature with a warlock spell of the same level. However, if this change renders you ineligible for any Eldritch Invocations, you must also choose new invocations. The Mystic Arcanum At 11th level, your patron grants you an arcanum, which is a magical secret called a spell. You can cast this spell once without expending a spell slot and must finish a long rest before doing so again. At higher levels, you gain additional warlock spells that can be cast in this manner: one 7th-level spell at 13th level, one 8th-level spell at 15th level, and one 9th-level spell at 17th level.You can entreat your patron to regain expended spell slots at 20th level, allowing you to spend 1 minute entreating for aid and regaining all spent slots from your Pact Magic feature. ==========___ Your warlock spell list includes a variety of options, including the Awakened Mind spell that lets you telepathically speak with creatures within 30 feet. At 6th level, you can use Entropic Ward to ward yourself against attack and turn an enemy's missed strike into good luck for yourself. ==========___ As you progress through your warlock journey, you'll gain access to more powerful spells like Thought Shield at 10th level, which makes your thoughts resistant to telepathic attacks. Additionally, Create Thrall at 14th level allows you to infect a humanoid's mind with the alien magic of your patron, charming them until a Remove Curse spell is cast or used again. ==========___ ok so like existence is a big thing right its all about us being here and stuff we got these buttons to edit the page or just some sections if thats possible we also got this watch headings thingy to see if theres an edit link ther or not and then theres appeding content wothout having to change everyting we can check out whats changed over time and if you wanna talk about it on the wiki then this is the best way to do it we also got file attachments and pages that links to us
