A large, detailed illustration of the Epiphany Catholic Church building. The church is a modern, light-colored structure with a prominent cross on the roof. It is surrounded by palm trees and a paved area with large spherical ornaments. The illustration is set against a light blue sky.

Love and Prayer

"Where have you been?" the friendly woman asked the little girl on seeing the child leaving church alone. "In there" said the girl pointing to the church. "And what were you doing in church on such a nice day?", the woman asked. The child replied, "Praying". Thinking that the girl might need some help, the woman questioned her further, asking "what were you praying for?" "Nothing" said the little girl, "I was just loving God."

Out of the mouths of children comes great wisdom. God loves us with an unchanging love, and the love we return to Him is what prayer is all about. One of the best ways to love God is through prayer. If you love someone, you never want to hurt them.

Love is a precious gift, and a beautiful thing. We love our parents, spouses, children, relatives and friends, and above all we love God. Love is not just something romantic, family felt or closeness. True love is being faithful and loyal to that person we love. That's how God loves us. He loves us unconditionally and faithfully. He never stops loving us. The only time God is so hurt is when we are in sin, but He hopes you will return, because He loves you.

Jesus taught us that we don't have to be clever to have Him, all you have to do is want to love Him. Just speak to Him in prayer as you would your own loved ones. Do not hesitate to ask Him for the blessings, the health of body, your problems and thoughts. He is waiting for you. That's why the little girl just stepped into church to say, "I love you". He is waiting for you. When you pray – you tell God you love Him.

Love and prayer reminds me of the song . . . "Love and Marriage". Here is my version. "Love and Prayer go together like a horse and carriage. You can't have one without the other."

Let's all pray and love God.

What We Give — and What We Receive

By Archbishop Thomas G. Wenski
Archbishop of Miami

Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

World Mission Sunday, October 18 this year, marks the 100th anniversary of this worldwide day of prayer and giving to support the activities of the Church in “mission lands”. Pope Leo XIV has chosen a theme that expresses beautifully what World Mission Sunday is about: “One in Christ, united in mission.” Our unity in Christ means that we belong to one another and we share in a common mission: to bring the gospel to all nations. World Mission Sunday allows us to express an affective solidarity with those working in mission lands to spread the gospel; and the collection taken up at all Masses throughout the world also allows us to express an effective solidarity with them by helping to provide them with resources to carry out their mission. The Pontifical Mission Societies manage and distribute what is collected on World Mission Sunday on behalf of the Pope.

“One in Christ, united in mission,” we are asked to support those who work in “mission fields” far from our home parishes. Today, in more than 1,100 mission territories around the world, local Churches depend upon the prayers and generosity of Catholics elsewhere. Through the World Mission Sunday collection, we help form seminarians and religious, support catechists, sustain priests and dioceses, and provide the basic resources that allow the Church to proclaim the Gospel in communities across the globe.

Pope Leo XIV, who knows missionary life personally from his more than 20 years of service in Peru, reminds us in his message for this year's World Mission Sunday that the Church is called to bring God's faithful love “to all people, especially those who are most in need.”

For 100 years, World Mission Sunday has given Catholics a concrete way to answer that call together.

As a young priest, like Pope Leo, I too was a missionary priest – but a missionary priest in my own “backyard”. After a brief time in Haiti, I devoted almost 20 years of my ministry in South Florida to Haitian Catholics as they struggled to build new lives in this country.

One of the great lessons of my priesthood was that mission is never one-way street. Like other missionaries, I learned that I received more than I gave from the people I served. The distinction between a Church that “gives” and a Church that “receives” is never as simple as it might appear.

Here in the Archdiocese of Miami, we have given generously but we have received so much more. That we are members of a “universal” Church that embraces “all nations” is visible every day. Our local Church has been immeasurably enriched by Catholics who came here from Haiti, Cuba, Nicaragua, Venezuela and countries throughout Latin America and the Caribbean. They brought with them their languages, devotions, traditions but, above all, their faith.

My encounters with their resilient faith, their deep trust in God's providence that remained strong even amid tremendous hardship helped me to appreciate what it means to belong to a truly universal church.

This centennial year is particularly meaningful for the Church in the United States. On September 24th, we celebrated the beatification of Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen, who spent 16 years as National Director of The Pontifical Mission Societies, which oversees the World Mission Sunday collection on behalf of the Pope.

Archbishop Sheen worked tirelessly to enlarge the missionary imagination of American Catholics. He wanted us to understand that the Church extends far beyond the boundaries of our own parish or country, and that the needs of Catholics half a world away concern us precisely because they are members of the same Body of Christ.

That message should resonate deeply with us in South Florida. We know from our own families and parishes that borders do not divide the Body of Christ.

In the Church, there are no strangers. There are only brothers and sisters, called together to be one in Christ, united in mission.

On October 18, I ask you to pray for missionaries and for the communities they serve. And when the World Mission Sunday collection is taken up in your parish, please give generously according to your means.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Most Reverend Thomas Wenski

ARCHDIOCESE OF MIAMI

Office of the Archbishop

Octubre 2026

Hermanos y Hermanas en Cristo,

El Domingo Mundial de las Misiones, que este año se celebra el 18 de octubre, marca el centenario de esta jornada mundial de oración y generosidad en apoyo de las actividades de la Iglesia en las “tierras de misión”. El papa León XIV ha elegido un lema que expresa bellamente el significado del Domingo Mundial de las Misiones: “Uno en Cristo, unidos en la misión”. Nuestra unidad en Cristo significa que nos pertenecemos unos a otros y que compartimos una misión común: llevar el Evangelio a todas las naciones. El Domingo Mundial de las Misiones nos permite expresar una solidaridad afectiva con quienes trabajan en tierras de misión para difundir el Evangelio; y la colecta que se realiza en todas las Misas alrededor del mundo también nos permite expresar una solidaridad efectiva con ellos, ayudándolos a contar con los recursos necesarios para llevar a cabo su misión. Las Obras Misionales Pontificias administran y distribuyen, en nombre del Papa, lo recaudado durante el Domingo Mundial de las Misiones.

“Uno en Cristo, unidos en la misión”, se nos pide apoyar a quienes trabajan en “campos de misión” lejos de nuestras parroquias. Hoy, en más de 1,100 territorios de misión alrededor del mundo, las Iglesias locales dependen de las oraciones y la generosidad de los católicos de otros lugares. A través de la colecta del Domingo Mundial de las Misiones, ayudamos a formar seminaristas y religiosos, apoyamos a catequistas, sostenemos a sacerdotes y diócesis, y proporcionamos los recursos básicos que permiten a la Iglesia proclamar el Evangelio en comunidades de todo el mundo.

El papa León XIV, quien conoce personalmente la vida misionera por sus más de 20 años de servicio en Perú, nos recuerda en su mensaje para el Domingo Mundial de las Misiones de este año que la Iglesia está llamada a llevar el amor fiel de Dios “a todas las personas, especialmente a las más necesitadas”.

Durante 100 años, el Domingo Mundial de las Misiones ha ofrecido a los católicos una manera concreta de responder juntos a ese llamado.

Como joven sacerdote, al igual que el papa León, yo también fui sacerdote misionero, pero un sacerdote misionero en mi propio “patio”. Después de un breve tiempo en Haití, dediqué casi 20 años de mi ministerio en el sur de la Florida a los católicos haitianos mientras luchaban por construir una nueva vida en este país.

Una de las grandes lecciones de mi sacerdocio fue que la misión nunca es un camino de una sola dirección. Como otros misioneros, aprendí que recibí más de lo que di de las personas a quienes serví. La distinción entre una Iglesia que “da” y una Iglesia que “recibe” nunca es tan sencilla como podría parecer.

Aquí, en la Arquidiócesis de Miami, hemos dado generosamente, pero hemos recibido mucho más. Que somos miembros de una Iglesia “universal” que abraza a “todas las naciones” es algo visible cada día. Nuestra Iglesia local se ha enriquecido inmensamente gracias a los católicos que llegaron aquí desde Haití, Cuba, Nicaragua, Venezuela y países de toda Hispanoamérica y el Caribe. Trajeron consigo sus idiomas, devociones y tradiciones, pero, sobre todo, su fe.

Mis encuentros con su fe resiliente y con su profunda confianza en la providencia de Dios, que permaneció firme incluso en medio de enormes dificultades, me ayudaron a comprender mejor lo que significa pertenecer a una Iglesia verdaderamente universal.

Este año del centenario tiene un significado especial para la Iglesia en Estados Unidos. El 24 de septiembre celebramos la beatificación del arzobispo Fulton J. Sheen, quien durante 16 años fue director nacional de las Obras Misionales Pontificias, que supervisan la colecta del Domingo Mundial de las Misiones en nombre del Papa.

El arzobispo Sheen trabajó incansablemente para ampliar la visión misionera de los católicos estadounidenses. Quería que comprendiéramos que la Iglesia se extiende mucho más allá de los límites de nuestra propia parroquia o país, y que las necesidades de los católicos que se encuentran al otro lado del mundo nos conciernen precisamente porque son miembros del mismo Cuerpo de Cristo.

Ese mensaje debería resonar profundamente entre nosotros en el sur de la Florida. Sabemos, por nuestras propias familias y parroquias, que las fronteras no dividen el Cuerpo de Cristo.

En la Iglesia no hay extraños. Solo hay hermanos y hermanas, llamados juntos a ser uno en Cristo, unidos en la misión.

El 18 de octubre, les pido que recen por los misioneros y por las comunidades a las que sirven. Y cuando se realice la colecta del Domingo Mundial de las Misiones en su parroquia, por favor, den generosamente de acuerdo con sus posibilidades.

Sinceramente en Cristo,

Reverendísimo Thomas Wenski
Arzobispo de Miami
