Aison-A responded to Exabyte U's uploaded content on March 27, 2020, with an update made on November 10, 2020. Aison-A expressed gratitude for the feedback and acknowledged some points that needed clarification. They emphasized that constructive criticism should be explained or implied to provide useful insights. Regarding the track, Aison-A mentioned that while some rhythms may not match the melody perfectly, they can still work well together. The emphasis on "at all" was considered excessive in this case. Aison-A also addressed a statement criticizing the use of piano as the lead instrument and other synths in the background, stating that personal tastes do not necessarily translate to others. Additionally, Aison-A clarified the use of MIDIs on Newgrounds, citing the platform's policy regarding MIDI tracks. They highlighted the importance of modifying individual track notes instead of replacing them with another instrument. Setup for the Conductor Track System involves configuring various channels, including Rhythm (CH #1 CH #2 CH #3 CH #10). Additionally, marker analysis and setup are essential steps in this process.
