

Dear Adapters,

After much consideration, we've made the decision to cancel this year's Global Flood and Water Risk Summit, due to take place on 10 & 11 December. We never want to ask you to invest your time or resources in something that isn't going to deliver exceptional value. Despite experiencing strong early enthusiasm, we still haven't seen the level of interest or commercial traction needed to deliver the kind of high-quality experience we pride ourselves on. I apologise for any inconvenience caused.

The feedback and insights from this process are already helping us design new, sharper experiences that we believe will serve our audience far better in the future. We will also be putting on a free-to-attend webinar, should you wish to join this.

For all those who were confirmed to attend, you should have received an email from our team with more information. If you haven't received an email, please contact us via our website. Thank you for your understanding and your continued support as we stay focused on delivering experiences that truly make a difference.

Best Regards,
Oliver Katz
Founder & CEO
Global Flood & Water Risk Summit