

Interim Management Report of Fund Performance

For the period ended June 30, 2026

A Message from the CEO

As we reach the midpoint of 2026, I am proud of the progress LongPoint ETFs has continued to make within the Canadian ETF industry through the growth of our ETF lineup and the continued expansion of our ETF Partnership Platform. Building on the momentum established in 2025, we remain focused on partnering with leading asset managers to deliver innovative, high-quality ETF solutions for Canadian investors.

A key highlight of the first half of 2026 was the successful launch of new partnership ETFs with Moat Financial, Trading Central, and Humilis, building on our existing relationships with ForAll and ReSolve. These launches reflect our commitment to bringing differentiated investment strategies to the Canadian market, spanning fundamental equity investing, data-driven insights, and specialized portfolio construction techniques. Each new partnership demonstrates the strength and flexibility of our platform in supporting a diverse range of investment solutions.

The market environment during the first half of 2026 remained dynamic. Investors navigated evolving trade policies and tariffs, ongoing geopolitical conflicts, and continued volatility across global equity and commodity markets. Crude oil prices experienced significant swings in response to geopolitical developments, while companies benefiting from advances in artificial intelligence and semiconductors continued to be important drivers of market performance. Although major equity indexes declined toward the end of the first quarter, markets recovered during the second quarter. Against this backdrop, our partner ETFs continued to provide investors with access to differentiated investment approaches designed to meet a variety of portfolio objectives.

Partnerships remain central to our vision of expanding and enhancing the Canadian ETF ecosystem. While Canadian investors have historically looked beyond domestic markets for access to specialized strategies, our platform enables experienced investment managers to bring differentiated ideas to the Canadian marketplace through the ETF structure, making them more accessible to advisors and investors.

LongPoint's Partnership Platform is built on alignment, collaboration, and a long-term perspective. We remain selective in choosing partners with a focus on strategies that we believe can create value across a variety of market environments. As we continue to grow and scale our platform, our objective remains clear: to support our partners while providing Canadian investors with innovative, high-quality investment solutions.

Thank you for your continued confidence in LongPoint ETFs and in the partners who help bring these strategies to market. We look forward to building on our momentum throughout the remainder of 2026 and beyond.

Sincerely,

“Steven J. Hawkins”

CEO of LongPoint Asset Management Inc.

Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Humilis Fundamental Opportunities ETF (the "Fund") seeks to provide long-term capital growth by investing opportunistically, primarily in large capitalization equity securities of Canadian companies and select U.S. companies.

In order to achieve its investment objective, the Fund will invest opportunistically, primarily in equity securities of U.S. and Canadian large capitalization companies.

Risks

The risks of the Fund remain as described in the prospectus or any amendments thereto and Fund Facts.

The risk rating of the Fund is medium.

Results of Operations

For the period from March 19, 2026 to June 30, 2026 (the "Period"), units of the Fund returned 14.27% and the Index returned 13.42%. The above figures are adjusted for distributions, if any.

The Fund generated gross comprehensive income (loss) from investments and derivatives (which includes changes in the fair value of the Fund's portfolio) of $537,991. The Fund incurred management, operating and transaction expenses of $10,263, net of $25,544 that was either paid or absorbed by the Manager on behalf of the Fund. The waiving and/or absorption of such fees and/or expenses by the Manager may be terminated at any time, or continued indefinitely, at the discretion of the Manager. The Fund distributed $0 to unitholders during the Period.

Ongoing geopolitical risks from the US-Iran conflict weighed heavily on investor sentiment, intensifying market volatility. This uncertainty created a US macro backdrop of higher-for-longer interest rates, energy disruptions, and persistent inflation which compounded existing concerns around AI capital investment and structural industry disruption in Information Technology, notably Software companies. While an official correction was avoided in March, market choppiness and concentrated risk around the Mag 7 and energy names continued to impact the broader market. In the US, higher crude oil prices from geopolitical risks significantly improved earnings for Energy, while higher AI spending drove exceptional earnings growth in Semiconductors (within Information Technology), and lastly, Industrials benefited from AI-related infrastructure investment and defense spending. In Canada, performance was driven by structural strengths and more diversification compared to the US in Energy, Financials and Materials. Rising oil prices boosted earnings for Canadian oil producers, while high interest rates and stable credit profile drove Financials. Lastly, gold and precious metals benefited from geopolitical uncertainty and AI-related infrastructure demand.

The Fund's positioning in materials was the largest contributor to relative performance, as the sector's weakness including a sharp pullback in gold producers — was not fully mirrored in the Fund. The Fund's overweight and stock selection in Consumer Discretionary also contributed, led by Aritzia and Amazon. UnitedHealth Group rebounded as the company worked to stabilize its earnings outlook under returning CEO Stephen Hemsley, while Eli Lilly continued to benefit from its GLP-1 franchise, both leading to outperformance in the Health Care sector. Energy also outperformed for the quarter, driven by lessened exposure to oil producers within the sector. Financials had another strong quarter outperforming the benchmark as banks posted strong gains on solid earnings. Information Technology continued to benefit from the AI capital expenditure boom and a rally in memory and semiconductor names; however, the fund underperformed in the sector with the lack of memory names detracting from performance. Palo Alto provided a solid boost following synergies of CyberArk and the launch of its AI-driven identity security platform.

Recent Developments

There have been no recent developments in the industry, the management of the Fund, or the Fund itself that have had, or are expected to have, a material impact on the Fund.

The Fund did not make any material changes to its investment objective or fundamental investment strategy during the period. Portfolio activity reflected the Manager's ongoing fundamental assessment of individual investment opportunities and changing market conditions. The Manager continued to actively manage sector and security weights with a focus on companies offering attractive long-term risk-adjusted return potential.

The Fund seeks to provide long-term capital growth by investing opportunistically, primarily in large capitalization equity securities of Canadian companies and select U.S. companies. The Fund is designed to best encapsulate the Humilis' long-term fundamental opinions, themes, and positioning with respect to equity markets, sectors, and industries, and is constructed in such a manner to provide investors with core long-term equity holdings of high quality brand-named companies in both Canada and the U.S. The portfolio manager utilizes a strategy that combines top-down discipline with bottom-up fundamental research to identify stocks that may represent superior risk/rewards opportunities.

Past Performance

The performance of the Fund, presented below and calculated as at December 31 of each year, is based on the net asset value of the Fund. It assumes that all distributions made in the Periods shown were reinvested in additional units of the Fund. These returns do not take into account sales, redemption charges, distributions, or optional charges that would have reduced returns. Past performance of a Fund does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.
