Dear All Florida Paper

My hope is my letter finds all is well with you and your fellow employees along with your family members as the holidays and new year approaches.

The global market continues to be hit with higher and higher priced raw materials, labor (including shortage of labor) and increased freight costs. These increases on all of our raw materials coupled with staggering labor rates, increased freight (both local and abroad) costs have greatly impacted our ability to maintain prices on all of our FancyHeat products. Effective immediately, FancyHeat will be implementing a small increase on some of our products. Please see following page with updated pricing.

As we have said before, unlike our competitor's FancyHeat will NOT cut back on the amount of product in the can or decrease our package sizes by giving our valued customers less product and less performance for more money. FancyHeat is committed to continuing to offer our one of a kind "World's Best Fuel" to the market.

It is because of you, our valued customer we have grown and all of us here at the FancyHeat family truly value our business with your company.

Should you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to me at any time.

Sincerely,
Fiore J. Masci
President
