To Our Valued Customers,

Escalating tensions in the Middle East have created challenges and significant supply issues affecting the global polyethylene market. Supply chain disruptions will have a direct impact on North American-produced polyethylene. We have received notice of substantial price increases from our resin suppliers expected to be implemented immediately.

As a result, we are revising our previous announcement dated February 16th, to reflect an increase on all Amcor Can Liner Products by 12%. This increase will take effect with orders placed on or after April 1, 2026. To better serve our customers and manage supply responsibly, Amcor reserves the right to limit order sizes to historical purchase volumes. All orders must call for immediate delivery.

Our team will continue to monitor resin conditions closely and communicate promptly should further changes occur. We remain committed to providing consistent quality, supply reliability, and best-in-class support during these rapidly shifting market conditions. If you have any questions, your sales representative is available to discuss details specific to your business.

Thank you for your understanding and continued partnership.

Best regards,

Todd Wadle
