

5 Ways to Make Staffing One Less Thing

ON YOUR DENTAL OFFICE MANAGER TO-DO LIST

You manage the schedule, support your team, solve problems, and keep patients happy. When a staffing gap throws off the day, you need a reliable solution. That's where onDiEM comes in.

Dental office managers know that even one unexpected absence can create a ripple effect across the practice. Appointments need to be covered, the team needs support, and patients still deserve an excellent experience.

You already have plenty on your plate. Having a dependable dental staffing partner can help you spend less time scrambling to fill shifts and more time focusing on the people and processes that keep your practice running smoothly.

HERE ARE FIVE THINGS EVERY DENTAL OFFICE MANAGER SHOULD HAVE IN THEIR BACK POCKET

1. A dependable way to fill staffing gaps.

When someone calls out or your schedule gets unexpectedly busy, finding qualified coverage shouldn't become another full-time job. onDiEM helps dental practices connect with dental professionals for last-minute coverage, planned time off, and additional staffing support when you need it.

You have enough to manage. Let staffing be one less thing.

You work hard to keep your team supported, your patients cared for, and your practice moving forward. onDiEM can help you navigate staffing challenges with a trusted solution, W-2 employment, and the flexibility to meet changing needs.

2. Confidence in your staffing and compliance process.

Staffing involves more than finding someone to fill a shift. With onDiEM's W-2 employment model, the professionals working through the platform are employed by onDiEM, helping reduce the administrative burden associated with payroll, employment taxes, workers' compensation, and other employment-related responsibilities.

3. Flexibility that works for your practice.

Your staffing needs can change from one week to the next. Whether you need help covering an absence or additional support during a busy season, onDiEM offers a flexible staffing solution that can adapt to your practice's needs.

4. Support that helps protect the patient experience.

When your team is short-staffed, everyone feels the pressure. Access to experienced, vetted dental professionals can help your practice maintain its workflow, support your existing team, and keep patient care at the center of the day.

5. A staffing partner who understands dentistry.

You don't need another vendor that creates more work. You need a partner who understands the unique demands of a dental practice. onDiEM was built for dentistry, with a staffing platform designed to simplify the process of finding qualified dental professionals so you can focus on running your practice.
