MyFormality – 100% digital online hub for legal and financial advice for entrepreneurs

This start-up company, based in Lyon, was founded in 2019 by legal experts. MyFormality aims to enable small and medium-sized businesses have quick and easy access to legal and financial services. How is it done? Via a single hub which can be reached through an online platform made up of over 300 legal experts capable of answering any query in 24 hours.

The screenshot shows the MyFormality website homepage. The header includes the logo, phone number (01 84 60 70 99), and a 'Prendre rendez-vous' button. The main banner features the text: 'Avec MyFormality, réalisez vos démarches juridiques et financières entièrement en ligne !' and 'Gagnez du temps. Faites des économies. Profitez de notre expertise.' Below the banner, a section titled 'Avocats, experts-comptables, huissiers, notaires, financiers et assureurs à votre service' shows five small images of professionals at work.

Issues and targets?

A newcomer on the Legaltech market, MyFormality must attract qualified traffic onto its platform. This means implementing a highly tactical SEO strategy.

The targets:

- ▶ Increase traffic on the website to demonstrate expertise and offer our services
- ▶ Situate ourselves as the mandatory one-stop for business management
- ▶ Speed up the commercial development of key business accounts

What were the challenges?

We have a small team and limited funding so it's difficult to implement a full SEO strategy. Incremlys has helped us become more efficient and gain in visibility on Google, despite a well-established competition in the Legaltech business world.

« We have achieved good SEO ranking given our funding and the overall competition. Despite our 'newcomer' position on the market and limited investment funding, Incremlys has helped us focus our data-driven strategy and penetrate the market with keywords previously unidentified. It's all about results with Incremlys: focus only on keywords that have a positive impact and forget the rest. »

Well-needed full-out centralised SEO

STRATEGY DEFINITION

The semantic audit function prioritises the technical and semantical actions needed on the site to secure a sturdy base on which to build our traffic acquisition strategy. The teams at MyFormality use this tool daily, with a weekly follow-up to make the necessary corrections.

The statistical algorithms provided by Incremlys indicate the likelihood of reaching 1st page on Google for our domain myformality.com for each keyword on a daily basis. The teams manage the risk level of our strategy based on those indicators.

 Anyone can be efficient with SEO with Incremlys because it's really intuitive and easy-to-use. Unlike other softwares, it's fully comprehensive and allows our team to collaborate within one single place. This way we can easily implement an effective data-driven SEO strategy from start to finish.

STRATEGY IMPLEMENTATION

Once the strategy has been agreed upon, and the work has been passed on to the copywriters, the Incremlys semantical algorithms support the content creation by providing a whole range of topics to be addressed in the articles in order to maximise the relevance of those publications.

Finally, the performance reports provide daily feedback of the results achieved and help maintain a coherence in the strategy that is being implemented.

“

“ Thanks to Incremlys you don't need to be an expert at SEO to be able to rank on Google. You just need to follow the step-by-step instructions provided by the software and consider your chance of success to create your strategy. All that is left to do is to get to writing and check the results. »

Support in the decision-making process with Incremlys: The best way to quickly and strongly break into the market

It can be time-consuming to create a relevant SEO strategy. Incremlys allows the whole team to move faster by staying focussed on implementing the most effective actions that provide the highest traffic acquisition potential.

The keyword search module enables the extraction of semantic cocoons in only one click about the strategical topics useful to MyFormality.

The statistical algorithms provided by Incremlys will then indicate the most relevant keywords that can rank the highest on Google. These algorithms, found only in Incremlys, are key to making the right choices and assessing the risk level of our chosen strategy.

« We use Incremlys every day, we just couldn't do without! It's the tool we use to manage: the decision-making process, content production to support our strategy, optimisation of the technical health of our website, volume guidance and follow-up, keyword acquisition and ranking. In short, it's our right-hand man! »

Virginie Boissimon-Smolders, CEO - MyFormality

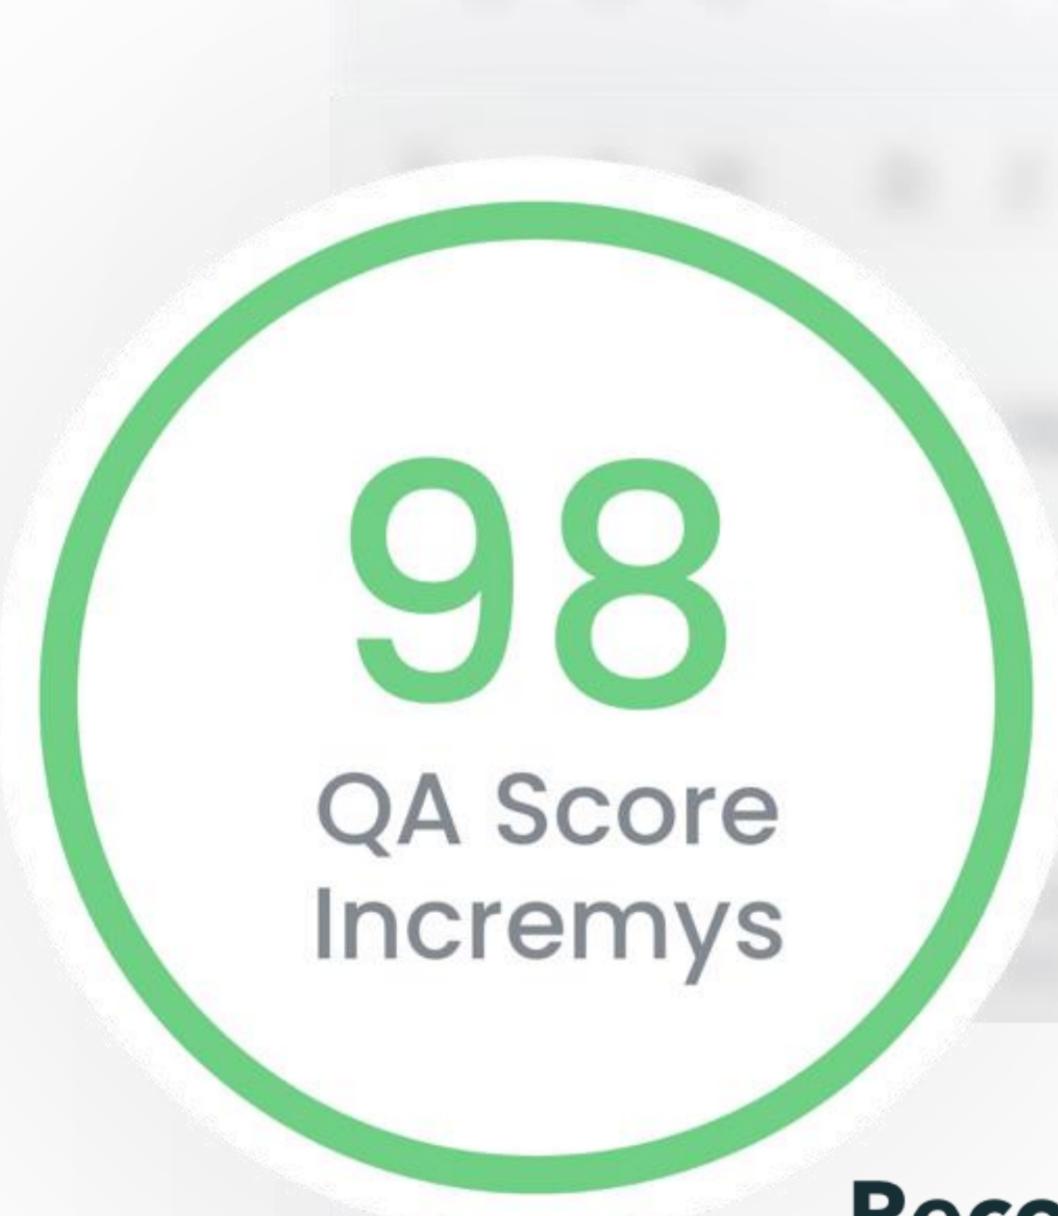

Producing 100% SEO-friendly content, without the help of SEO-specialised writers

The writers at MyFormality, all experts in the legal sector, write their own content straight into the Incremlys platform while the strategic team keeps an eye on the production process via the shared editorial planner.

The integrated writing module 'Editor' provides real-time updates of the quality score of the article while the writer is typing it. Relevant topics to be addressed, SEO indicators, competition monitoring... All this means the writers at MyFormality, originating from the legal world, can have complete independence in the creation of their articles without having to be trained on SEO techniques. Even better: Their skills keep on improving the more they write.

“How profitable is it to publish the right content? Incremlys saves us a sizable amount of money every month that would have otherwise been spent on SEA. All year-round, it's 100% savings on our yearly budget. »

A production factory... only one click away!

Whenever there is content production, our writers' diary can get quickly overloaded. When that happens, MyFormality can have access to a content factory, in one click! When the production load gets too heavy the content managers at MyFormality allocate the articles to the Incremys Content Factory straight from the platform. Several Incremys-certified writers, experts in legal work, pick up the slack and help maintain productivity, relieve the MyFormality teams, and speed up the strategy implementation.
