Welcome-

On April 23, 2025, EQT announced its agreement to acquire Olympus's assets. We are excited to share that the integration of these assets has now been completed. As a result, EQT is now your point of contact for all matters related to your oil and gas or right-of-way agreement. All future communications, inquiries, and requests should be directed to EQT. To best serve you, we ask that you provide your EQT Owner Number, which is located at the top of the page. If you believe your contact information to be current and you do not have any questions for us, there is no action required from you at this time.

If you are unfamiliar with EQT, we bring over 130 years of experience operating in the Appalachian Basin, backed by a strong commitment to innovation, operational excellence, and community engagement. Our mission is to deliver cleaner, more affordable, and more reliable energy for generations to come—we are proud to have you with us on this journey.

If you recently sold your interest or received this letter by mistake, please disregard. If you would like to contact us, please e-mail us at OwnerRelations@eqt.com.

We understand that a transition like this can bring questions, please visit our website for general account questions at <https://www.eqt.com/land-resources/owner-relations>. We're committed to making this a smooth and seamless experience for you.
