

I'm not a bot

Call for speakers 2025

Set of 29 new speaking opportunities added, set of 25 new, then 40, 30, 34, 41, successful server maintenance, set of 40 again. Then 18, 15 twice, 27, 12, 29 again, 16, 18, 32, 25, 22 twice, 41, 42, 40, 28, 20, 53, 45, 34, 23, 39, 52, 37, and finally 1620 calls being prepared for publishing within this week. The World Congress on Education, or WCE-2025, is a major global event where researchers can share their latest findings and stay current with the most recent advancements in education.The World Conference on Education (WCE) is breaking ground in education with its latest innovations. It brings together top academics, business leaders, and start-ups worldwide to foster intellectual exchange and collaboration. The WCE has established itself as a global hub for educators, social entrepreneurs, research centres, and innovators. Anyone can apply to be a speaker at the WCE-2025 by filling out the form below. This is an open call, and we're eager to hear from a diverse range of participants. Notably, many renowned speakers have already confirmed their attendance. If you're interested in giving a talk, please submit your proposal before or by May 25th, 2025. You'll receive notification on whether your application was accepted or rejected by May 31st, 2025. We're committed to increasing the presence of presenters and organisations at WCE-2025. You can also email your speaker's proposal to speakers@worldconedu.org. In fact, we've recently added numerous speaking opportunities: 29 new spots, 25 new spots, 40 new spots, 30 new spots, and so on. Our server maintenance has been a success, and we're excited about these developments in education.We have recently added numerous speaking opportunities across multiple events. A total of 29 new speaking opportunities were added, followed by an additional 16, then another 18, and so on. This accumulation of new speaking opportunities totals over 1000 additions to our event lineup. Furthermore, a large number of calls are being prepared for publication within the coming week, specifically 1620 calls. We're excited to announce that today marks the launch of an all-in-one Call for Speakers (CFS) platform for four distinct events we'll be hosting this year.The PASS Summit On Tour series consists of two-day events featuring opportunities to connect with peers, share knowledge, and learn from industry experts. Each event includes a pre-conference day with 8 in-depth sessions lasting 3 hours each, followed by the main conference day with 25 60-minute general sessions. This format brings the most popular aspects of PASS Summit to local regions, allowing attendees to engage with like-minded professionals in their area. The events are scheduled as follows: New York (August 18-19), Dallas (September 15-16), Netherlands (October 1-2), and Seattle (November 17-21).This year's PASS Summit at Seattle Convention Center will feature an abundance of sessions - a staggering 200+ - comprising pre-conference and general sessions. The latter includes Deep Dive, Learning Pathway, General-60, and General-75 minute talks, as well as lightning talks, panel discussions, and keynotes. The conference organizers have taken the time to review the feedback from the attendee survey conducted at the end of each PASS Summit and their annual Insights survey. For this year's Insights survey, a total of 380 community members provided valuable input which has been summarized in an infographic titled "PASS Insights Survey." This will hopefully inspire and guide the submission of sessions. Whether you are a seasoned speaker or newcomer, now is the ideal time to share your knowledge and contribute to the collective growth of the PASS community The Call for Speakers portal is currently accepting submissions until April 8. An Early Bird deadline of March 25 has been set for those interested in submitting pre-conference sessions and Learning Pathway proposals. For further details, please refer to the respective Call for Speakers guides. The organizers would like to remind everyone that the PASS Program team has doubled in size, with Jemma Hunter joining their ranks.For TechCrunch All Stage 2025 presented by Fidelity on July 17 in Boston, they are seeking scaling insights from leading experts in the startup and VC communities. This is an opportunity for you to share your knowledge and help founders navigate the challenges of scaling their businesses.Join top industry leaders for exclusive networking opportunities and amplify your brand with TechCrunch's extensive reach. Benefit from:Event listings on web and appMention in a shared TechCrunch.com articleSocial media promotionLead, educate, and make an impact!Play a key role in guiding startup leaders through the scaling process and enhance your reputation as an industry expert. Apply before April 18 for the TC All Stage event.

Call for speakers 2025 mental health. Calls for speakers 2025. Call for speakers 2025 usa. Call for speakers 2025 leadership schedule. Call for speakers 2025 india. Call for speakers 2025 canada. Call for speakers 2025 ai. Call for speakers 2025 schedule. Call for speakers 2025 healthcare. Call for speakers 2025 tech. Call for speakers 2025 uk. Call for speakers 2025 florida. Call for speakers 2025 wellness. Call for speakers 2025 women. Call for speakers 2025 leadership.