House Beautiful Marketplace is a one-stop online shop that helps you become your own interior designer. It features hand-picked furniture and home accessories from trusted British suppliers and popular international brands, curated by House Beautiful's team of editors and stylists. Given article text here Paraphrasing the original text: If you're looking for a unique and stylish armchair, consider checking out Birch Lane or Cura Home online marketplaces. Birch Lane offers a range of affordable options, including free white glove delivery, while Cura Home is known for its distinctive and original designs. Quince is another brand worth exploring, even if it's not immediately associated with furniture sales. They offer a variety of affordable pieces, including bed frames, that can add a touch of elegance to your home. GreenRow stands out for its commitment to sustainable design and manufacturing practices, making all its products in the US. While some may find their aesthetic too kitschy, fans will appreciate the brand's bright colors and ornate details. Finally, Le Maé offers Scandinavian-inspired furniture that blends in with most decor styles while providing great value. Senior Commerce Editor Heath Owens praises his own coffee table, saying it looks like it costs double the actual price after years of use. AllModern, Saatva, Castlery, and Amazon are popular online furniture stores that offer a wide range of stylish and durable pieces for the home. At AllModern, customers can find midcentury-inspired furniture with a modern twist, made from high-quality materials that ensure longevity. Associate Shopping Editor Janae McKenzie raves about her green velvet sofa, saying it's "the crown jewel of my living room" due to its comfort, spaciousness, and sleek silhouette. Saatva is renowned for its luxurious mattresses, but the brand also offers a selection of bedroom-specific furniture, crafted from sustainable materials without chemicals or toxic substances. Former deputy digital editor Katelyn Lunders praises her Saatva mattress, stating that it provides the perfect firmness and support for a restful night's sleep. Castlery takes a different approach, focusing on timeless classics rather than trendy pieces. Their website features comfortable and durable furniture items, such as wood dining tables and bed frames with storage, at affordable prices. Senior Commerce Manager Mackenzie Dunn discovered an affordable coffee table on Amazon that exceeded her expectations in terms of quality and style. Amazon also boasts its own furniture lines, Rivet and Stone & Beam, offering a vast selection of styles to suit various tastes and budgets. Associate Shopping Editor Jessica Cherner appreciates Wayfair's extensive range of products and competitive prices, making it an ideal destination for customers seeking to furnish their entire apartment. Company's amazing customer service makes it stand out, with representatives always genuinely trying to help and never keeping customers on hold for more than three minutes. Wayfair offers a wide range of products beyond furniture, with prices that are both affordable and higher-end. You might already be familiar with West Elm's website, which features a selection that goes beyond just furniture, at prices ranging from affordable to slightly higher. "I redecorated my apartment during the pandemic," Cherner says, recalling their first purchase, a pale pink pedestal dining table. They've had no regrets about it. Serena & Lily is known for its preppy-coastal style and high-quality furniture, like the Riviera stools that evoke the feel of an al fresco bistro table in France. Each piece is crafted with attention to detail, whether it's a rattan chair or something else. Anthropologie's home section needs to be on your radar if you haven't already discovered it, offering unique and stunning pieces like a bohemian-inspired cane bed with a wrapped headboard. And don't forget about their bedding - Cherner praises the duvet set they bought, which is still on their bed today. Nordstrom may not have an extensive furniture selection, but it does carry essential items that every home needs, such as bedding from top brands like Boll & Branch. "I have never bought furniture from Nordstrom," Cherner says, "but I do have the Boll & Branch sheets and they are incredible." Finally, Etsy is the go-to place for one-of-a-kind pieces or hard-to-find items that you can't find at larger retailers. Etsy is a go-to platform for Senior Commerce Editor Marina Liao, who seeks unique pieces not commonly found elsewhere. Former managing editor Olivia Hosken agrees, highlighting the "shop location" filter as a game-changer for discovering local handmade and vintage deals. With this feature, users can browse sellers offering local pickup options to save on shipping fees. The article also features three furniture brands: Albany Park, known for its comfortable sofas; Kathy Kuo Home, which offers curated high-end selections; and One Kings Lane, where customers can find both new and vintage pieces. Lichtenstein describes the latter as featuring "curated, high-end selections with a designer's touch." Given article text here "Discovering Hidden Gems in Furniture Design" For those in the know, small collections like Osanna Visconti's handmade stool from The House of Lyria can be truly incredible. Abask takes it to the next level with its global approach, featuring individual artisan-made pieces from Paris to São Paulo. Other favorites include Chairish, which sells unique antique furniture and decorative items, as well as lighting and art. Its collection is vast and diverse. In addition, Lemieux Et Cie partners with master artisans worldwide to create luxurious designs. GreenRow crafts innovative, sustainable pieces that can be passed down as heritage items. Rove Concepts caters to midcentury modern enthusiasts, offering reproductions of iconic designs like the Togo sofa. Le Maé is a relatively new brand launched in September 2024, specializing in coastal-cool furniture with natural materials and soft textures. Lastly, Serena & Lily offers coastal-inspired luxury pieces that work seamlessly in any space. Maiden Home is a female-founded brand from New York City, operating on principles of quality craftsmanship. The article highlights several luxury furniture brands known for their high-quality and visually appealing products. These brands, such as Frontgate and Outer, offer a range of styles from contemporary to European-inspired, ensuring that there's something to suit every taste. Notably, many of these brands prioritize both comfort and style in their designs, making them perfect for those who value aesthetics alongside practicality. The article also mentions the importance of customization options, with some brands offering the chance to personalize pieces to fit individual spaces. Additionally, it touches on the idea that furniture should be sustainable, durable, and comfortable, highlighting brands like Outer that cater to these needs. These luxury furniture brands have managed to stand out in the market by emphasizing design quality, comfort, and sustainability. The article's focus on various styles, from Scandinavian-inspired pieces to bohemian designs, underscores the diversity of options available to consumers. By highlighting specific products from each brand, such as Castlery's well-loved sofas and Williams Sonoma Home's California-cool furniture, the article provides a comprehensive look at what luxury furniture enthusiasts can expect from these brands. Below Burrow is another popular furniture brand known for its sofas, but they also offer a wide range of stylish and affordable furniture pieces that are just as impressive as their sectionals and loveseats. The brand has an online outlet where you can find hundreds of discounted brand-new items at budget-friendly prices. For those looking to invest in luxury furniture without breaking the bank, Burrow is definitely worth checking out. In contrast, Pottery Barn is a great destination for traditional furniture pieces that are both timeless and stylish. This natural wood bed frame from Pottery Barn is a perfect example of classic design that will never go out of style. Crate & Barrel is another top choice for those seeking excellent contemporary furniture and decor. The brand has been around since 1962, but its commitment to quality and style remains unchanged. In fact, Crate & Barrel offers free in-house interior design services to help customers pair their pieces together perfectly. On the other hand, Reiss Tolga Vases offer a crisp and modern monochrome palette that can add instant polish to any room scheme. Sarah Keady, Style and Interiors Director for House Beautiful, loves this timeless look and incorporates it into her designs. Major retailers like The White Company, Marks & Spencer, DFS, and Romo have partnered with Good Homes. Follow Sarah Keady UK on social media at @sarahkeadyuk.
