American Chillers Series Overview #1: Michigan Mega-Monsters A pair of kids at a camp find a species of gigantic mutated crayfish in the nearby lake that has caused chaos and destruction. They must now try to survive in an aquatic horror show. #2: Ogres of Ohio A brother and sister discover magical artifacts, but they will have to keep them safe from ogres who want to use them to destroy the world. The siblings are left to their own devices, trying not to become a snack for these mythical creatures. They must navigate through treacherous landscapes, all while fending off ogre attacks in search of safety and an ordinary life. #3: Florida Fog Phantoms Three children are trapped inside a thick cloud of fog that is home to scary phantoms who have it in for them. The friends try to escape the deadly mist but they can't help but be drawn into its eerie world, where nothing makes sense anymore. Wax Museum A group of robbers will take thousands of dollars in artwork if three kids on a field trip do not stop them in time. North Dakota Night Dragons A group of friends have to stop dragons from conquering a fantasy world, as well as ours. Mutant Mammoths of Montana A brother and sister on a camping trip in the Montana wilderness soon discover a herd of aggressive subterranean mammoths that evolved after the ice age. Terrifying Toys of Tennessee Three friends must help a toymaker whose experimentation with a new type of battery turned his toys into monsters. Nuclear Jellyfish of New Jersey After a kid sees a UFO over a resort, giant, mutant, laser-shooting jellyfish destroy a water park. Wicked Velociraptors of West Virginia After accidentally breaking a scientist's window, two friends offer to repay him by cleaning his lab windows. They find themselves going back in time after he completes a time travel invention experiment. Haunting in New Hampshire After moving into a new house, a girl is plagued by visions that only she can see, and who can also see her. Mississippi Megalodon Three friends go boating on a freshwater lake, but this particular lake is the hunting ground of a 60 ft long prehistoric shark. Oklahoma Outbreak A school becomes the scene of an outbreak of cooties, vicious insects whose bite turns people into zombies, and there is no cure. Kentucky Komodo Dragons While hiking, two siblings discover that Komodo dragons are loose in the forest, and they are extremely vicious. Curse of the Connecticut Coyotes A silly curse from an old witch becomes reality and three friends get trapped in the past.
