Our tailored expertise.

In today's aviation landscape, flexibility is a necessity. Airlines across the globe are facing unprecedented challenges that require fast, strategic responses. From capacity shortfalls to operational disruptions, the need for agile partners has never been greater.

Lisbon: A strategic ACMI hub

At Fly Albatross, we're based in Lisbon – a fast-growing hub for ACMI operations in Europe. The city is already home to two major ACMI players, and its geographical position offers unmatched connectivity to the rest of the world.

A shifting global environment

Structural challenges are reshaping the aviation sector – and creating significant opportunities for ACMI solutions:

Global parts shortage

According to airplane manufacturers, ongoing supply chain issues are extending aircraft turnaround times and fleet lifecycles – pushing airlines to seek ACMI capacity to maintain schedules.

Volatile demand

Passenger traffic has rebounded unevenly since COVID, while cargo flows continue to fluctuate. Airlines must remain agile, avoiding long-term fleet commitments. ACMI leasing offers a smart way to test new markets before placing major aircraft orders.

Operational and regulatory

Crew shortages, slot limitations, and environmental regulations further complicate fleet planning.

Our DNA: ACMI at the service of operators.

Every aspect of our company is designed to serve airlines with efficiency, responsiveness, and operational excellence.

Speed, flexibility and a trusted network of partners are at the heart of our model.

From first contact to aircraft deployment, our streamlined decision-making process allows us to move faster than traditional lessors. Whether the need is urgent or planned, we provide immediate support – with the ability to scale quickly.

We've built strong, long-term relationships with key suppliers, MROs, and training providers, allowing us to deliver high-quality service and maintain operational readiness at all times.

Versatile capabilities.
