

Why is a Sacramento Law Firm Grinding Your Tax Dollars into Nothing?

Patterson families are struggling with rising costs, yet MILLIONS of their tax dollars have gone to Sacramento-based law firm White Brenner LLP. That includes funding legal efforts to block new homes at Keystone Ranch - in the middle of a housing shortage.

Finally, Councilmember Carlos Roque is asking questions. At the latest City Council meeting, he publicly called for an independent third-party review of the City Attorney's legal model.

Unfortunately, the City attorney shut down the discussion before a vote could even happen, stating that the topic must be properly placed on the agenda before it can be discussed.

The public deserves to know why over $2 million have been sent to Sacramento lawyers, far exceeding the City's $380K annual legal budget. How much longer will the City wait to provide clear answers?
