

AI Intern Content Marketing Agent (CMA)

Datasheet

Scale With Leverage. Grow With Confidence.

Ambitious founders and lean teams face a familiar challenge: demand for content keeps rising while resources remain limited. Outsourcing is expensive and inconsistent. Hiring takes months. Meanwhile, your audience expects you to publish daily, show up on social, and deliver thought leadership that builds trust.

AI Intern's Content Marketing Agent (CMA) changes the equation. CMA is your AI-native teammate—one that creates, publishes, and manages content consistently across channels so you can focus on customers, product, and growth.

The Challenge

- Content gaps stall momentum. Missed blogs, sporadic social posts, and empty publishing calendars erode credibility.
- Founders stretched thin. Leaders lose valuable hours every week writing, editing, and coordinating freelancers.
- Fragmented execution. Multiple tools, agencies, and contractors create inefficiency and uneven quality.
- Scaling feels impossible. Traditional approaches rely on adding headcount you don't have.

The Solution: An AI-Native Teammate

The Content Marketing Agent (CMA) isn't another writing tool—it's a dependable teammate that takes on execution while adapting to your strategy and voice.

- Daily publishing capability: Blogs, LinkedIn posts, branded visuals, and audio assets created and delivered consistently.

- Strategic support: CMA helps shape your content strategy and adapts over time to maximize impact.
- Optional managed service: For founders who need end-to-end execution, AI Intern's content team can step in to ensure every piece matches professional standards.
- Significant time savings: At least 5–10 hours per week saved with weekly publishing—much more with daily cadence.
