- Allows you to shut down phishing and malware attacks
- Detects exposed personal information on the dark web
- Identifies fraudulent links associated with your profiles
- Protects your online reputation and relationships
- Up to $25,000 in account restoration expense reimbursement

HELPING YOU RECOVER

If a social media account is compromised, you won't have to navigate the recovery process alone. You'll have access to a specialist who can help restore affected accounts and return them to their pre-breach status.

Online threats don't stop at one account. It's why this protection extends to all members of your household. And because there's no deductible, it's one less thing to worry about when you need help.
