BIO

Paul Scribner is an investor and philanthropist known for closing complex transactions on urgent timelines. Currently, Paul is the Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Raven Resources Corp., a mid-market private equity firm headquartered in Dallas.

Recent transactions:

- Trust protector for Industrial & Commercial Trust AG, Obwalden, in structuring and leading its capitalization and transfer to Offing Invest AG
- Primary negotiator and chief restructuring officer for the General Assignment Estate of the creditors of First International AG i. L., Lucerne, in its successful windup of affairs, liquidation and deregistration in Switzerland
- Led the team for a cross-border divestiture of assets in Australia, Ireland, Lichtenstein, Cayman Islands, Switzerland, Luxembourg, and England as manager and governing person
- Worked on a sell-side team for the divestiture of digital signage assets for a media group, including structuring and documenting the sale
- Arranged the financing of a surface mining operation, including identifying and attracting the lender, all aspects of structuring and documenting the financing, and negotiating a government guarantee for the majority of the debt
- Led a deal team that organized and capitalized the acquisition of a mining asset from an ASX-registered coal operator

Paul also co-founded The Scribner Foundation, which has contributed more than $10 million to non-profit initiatives across the United States and globally. Through the Scribner Foundation and other philanthropic ventures, Paul has dedicated two decades to philanthropy, partnering closely with the non-profit sector through operating grants, financial support, and technical assistance. With expanding global influence, these efforts continue to create meaningful impact across both the business and philanthropic spheres.
