SNACK-SIZED GRATITUDE

Showing appreciation doesn't have to be big or complicated to make an impact. A small treat paired with a playful note is an easy way for school leaders to share gratitude and brighten a staff member's day.

These lighthearted gestures send a clear message: your work matters, and you are valued. With just a snack and a punny note, leaders can boost morale, foster connection, and build a positive school culture. Simple to prepare and fun to give, these little surprises go a long way in creating a supportive, thankful environment where staff feel noticed and appreciated. We've put together some ready-to-go notes you can use with your team.

Pro Tip: Keep a small stash of snacks and pre-printed notes in your office. That way, you can hand out a quick thank-you in the moment when you notice something worth celebrating—it feels more personal and timely.
