RECONNECT, REFLECT, & REIGNITE

As the school year picks up and to-do lists stack up, it's easy for connection and celebration to slip to the side. This guide is here to help you create those intentional moments. Each step offers a way to connect your team to what matters most: their goals, their growth, and each other.

From sparking reflection to celebrating wins, you'll find simple, meaningful ways to build a school community where everyone feels valued, supported, and proud to be part of the team.

ACTIVITY STEPS

Step 1:

Start with a brainstorming opportunity for staff members to establish their goals. Here are some prompting questions:

- What is one goal you have for yourself as a teacher?
- What is one area you'd like to work with your team on?
- What goal do you have connected to the school mission?
- What is a personal goal you have?

Step 2:

Create a shared space where celebration, connection, and encouragement are front and center.

Explain the Purpose: Invite staff to jot down moments of success, connection, or joy and pin them up anytime—whether it's a quick win, a meaningful interaction, or a proud classroom moment.

Pick a Visible Area: Choose a well-trafficked space like the staff lounge or main office—anywhere staff naturally gather.

Set Up the Board: Use a bulletin board, poster, or wall space. Keep the Moments of Joy printable notecards, pens, and markers nearby to make it easy to participate.

Step 3:

Celebrate the small (and big!) wins by sharing joyful moments throughout your school communications.

Give Shoutouts:

- During staff meetings
- In weekly newsletters
- Through daily emails

Step 4:

Create space for meaningful reflection and goal check-ins. Teachers can reflect in groups or as a whole staff, while leaders use the time to review progress and celebrate growth.

Reflection Prompts:

- What is something you are proud of from this week or month?
- What challenges did you face, and how did you grow from them?
- Thinking about the goals you started with—how does this goal connect with what you value?

Keep the Momentum Going

Check in on goals and moments of joy throughout the year. Simple touch points—like monthly reflections or end-of-year celebrations—go a long way in building a joyful, purpose-driven school culture.
