

PHILANTHROPY FOR CLIMATE

OVERVIEW

Philanthropy for Climate is a global call to all foundations, regardless of geographic location, size, or thematic focus, to integrate climate action across their work, from governance to grantmaking. What started as a public commitment from a handful of UK funders in 2019 is now a global movement of more than 900 foundations in over 20 countries, united in their commitment to integrated climate action. The movement is led locally by philanthropic networks in the UK, Spain, Italy, France, Poland, Canada, Brazil, South Africa, and the Arab Region.

Philanthropic Engagement	Integrated Climate Action	Global Collaboration
Mobilising all foundations, regardless of size, mission focus, or geographic location, to integrate climate action across their work, from governance to grantmaking.	A unique approach to Climate philanthropy by encouraging foundations to think about two key factors: an interconnected lens, exploring how the climate emergency impacts and is impacted by their existing areas of work, and a multi-pillar approach, exploring the various levers for change available to them for more systemic action.	Global coordination and collaboration on climate is central to the movement and harnesses the capacity of philanthropy support organisations as powerful catalysts for mobilising philanthropic action. Through locally led but globally coordinated commitments, connections are made horizontally and vertically across the field for more and better climate philanthropy.
