

Kleio’s Conversational AI Solution for Travel Industries

Why Conversational AI?

In travel, every booking starts with questions. Personalized, detailed, and unique to each traveler’s needs. The answers are spread across vast inventories of flights, hotels, packages, and scattered reservation systems, making it slow and costly to respond. Days can be lost just qualifying a lead, checking availability, and assembling the right itinerary.

Conversational AI changes that. It understands natural language, navigates vast travel inventories in seconds, and pulls live data from booking engines, internal systems, and CRMs to deliver precise recommendations instantly. Travelers get fast, accurate, and tailored options with clear value; advisors and agents gain efficiency and speed, moving from first inquiry to confirmed booking in a fraction of the time. Proven in industries like retail and manufacturing, it’s now giving travel companies the clarity and responsiveness to win more high-value customers from day one.
