Kleio
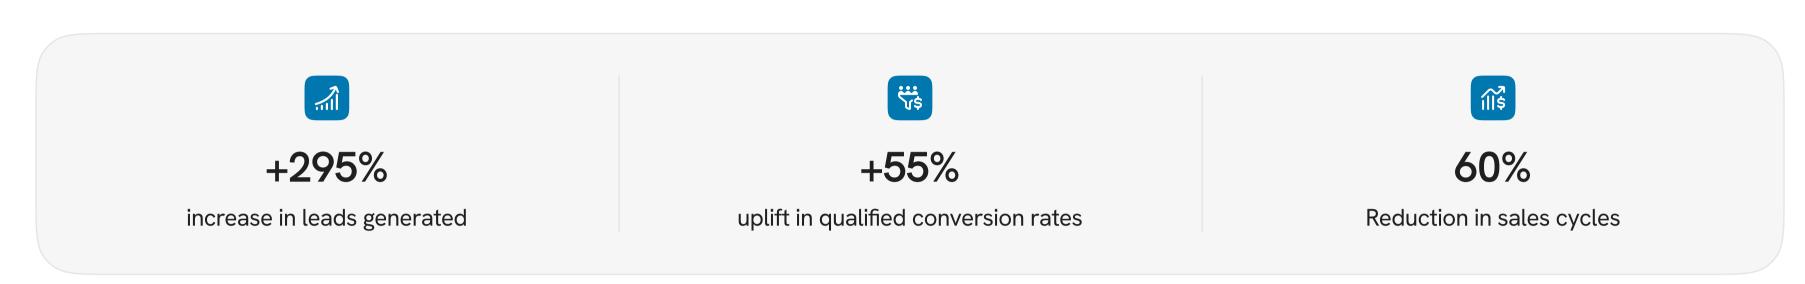

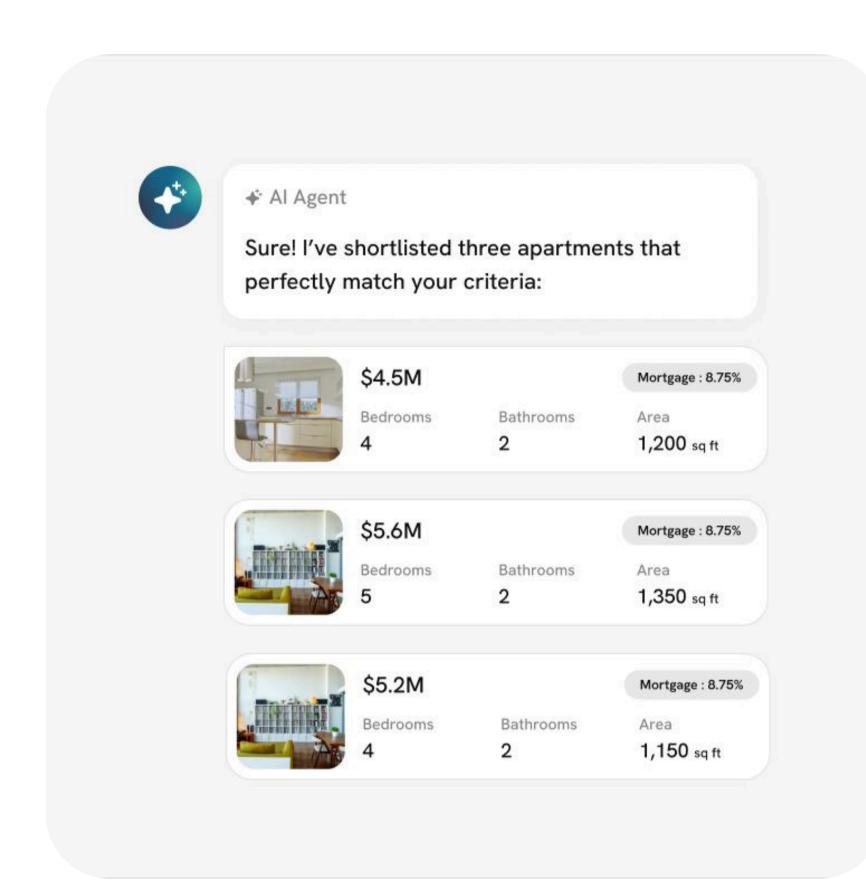

Kleio's Conversational AI Solution for the Real-Estate Industry

Why Conversational AI?

In real estate, every property search starts with questions. Personalized, detailed, and unique to each buyer's or renter's needs. The answers are scattered across vast inventories of listings, fragmented databases, and multiple listing systems, making it slow and costly to respond. Days can be lost just qualifying a lead, verifying availability, handling demand, and assembling the right set of property options.

Conversational AI changes that. It understands natural language, navigates vast property inventories in seconds, and pulls live data from databases, property management systems, and CRM tools to deliver precise recommendations instantly. Buyers and renters get fast, accurate, and tailored options with clear value; agents and brokers gain efficiency and speed, moving from first inquiry to qualified viewing or offer in a fraction of the time. Proven in industries like travel and retail, it's now giving real estate companies the clarity and responsiveness to win more high-value clients from day one.
