Undisclosed

Job Summary

We're looking for a self-directed, highly capable React/Next.js Frontend Engineer to own our frontend codebase. As an early hire, you'll play a key role in building a performant and polished web experience for our fast-moving political media startup.

You'll work directly with the founders, designers, and backend engineer to ship features quickly, with high impact and minimal technical debt.

This is a full-time, high-responsibility role. You will have full ownership of the frontend, and we're looking for someone who can move fast, think independently, problem solve, and take pride in clean, maintainable code.

Responsibilities

Own The Frontend:

- Take full responsibility for our React/Next.js codebase
- Make architectural and tooling decisions that support performance, maintainability, and growth
- Proactively refactor or restructure code as needed

Build & Ship Quickly:

- Translate Figma designs into high-quality, responsive UI using SCSS and modern JS
- Rapidly prototype, test, and iterate on new features using Agile practices, without sacrificing core stability.

Collaborate & Communicate:

- Work closely with the co-founders, designers, and backend engineer
- Participate in brainstorming and product discussions
- Ensure design consistency and UX clarity across the site

Maintain Quality & Performance:

- Optimize performance and load times across devices
- Handle error states, edge cases, and responsiveness
- Implement tracking, analytics, and A/B testing infrastructure as needed

Qualification

- Proven experience building web apps with React and Next.js
- Strong proficiency in SCSS, HTML, JavaScript (and ideally TypeScript)
- Demonstrated ability to own a codebase end-to-end
- A startup mindset: ability to ship quickly and responsibly, balancing speed with thoughtful decisions
- Experience integrating REST APIs for frontend-backend communication, using Fetch or similar HTTP clients.
- Git proficiency and clean code habits
- Excellent problem-solving and communication skills
- Fluent in the English Language
