Job Summary

We're looking for a skilled and motivated Backend Developer to join our R&D team, working on innovative products that combine strong backend architecture with modern tech stacks and AI tools.

This is a remote contractor position open to candidates based in Latin America. The role is 80% backend / 20% frontend, so we're looking for someone with solid backend experience, but also comfortable collaborating on light frontend tasks when needed.

Responsibilities

- Develop and maintain backend services, primarily using PHP 8.1+ and JavaScript
- Work with databases such as Amazon Aurora and PostgreSQL
- Participate in the full software development lifecycle within a small, agile R&D team
- Collaborate with other developers, product managers, and stakeholders to build scalable, high-performance systems
- Occasionally contribute to frontend tasks, ideally using Vue.js and TypeScript
- Leverage and explore AI tools such as MCP to enhance product functionality

Qualification

- 5+ years of backend development experience (PHP & JavaScript)
- Experience with relational databases (PostgreSQL, Aurora)
- Comfortable working in a collaborative, fast-paced environment
- Proficient English communication skills (written and spoken)
- Ability to write clean, maintainable, and testable code
