

The Future Careers & Education Tech Newsletter

The bi-weekly ed-tech industry newsletter from KnowMeQ

Issue 05
November 26, 2025

PREVIEW

KnowMeQ’s co-founders returned from CAEL with high hopes for the future of Credit for Prior Learning — and momentum that mirrors what’s happening across higher education.

In this issue, we explore five lessons from Inside Higher Ed on how AI is pushing institutions toward reinvention, a new episode of The Learning Curve on what learning is worth protecting in an AI-driven world, and new analysis from HR Dive showing October’s layoffs surged to a 22-year high — a reminder of why skills, adaptability, and CPL pathways matter more than ever.

Hope you enjoy!

On the Brink of Reinvention

Five Lessons on AI and the Future of Higher Education

For years, AI made its way into our institutions through incremental experiments—a pilot here, a classroom tool there. And then, seemingly overnight, higher education found itself confronting large questions at once: What is our core purpose now?
