

THE POWER OF LOVE CAN LIGHT THE WORLD

by Anina Angel

A tree was planted in a desert with no one to care for it, no one to water it and no one to support it
to bear its fruits and yield lively leaves.
Strong wind seems to give no time for the tree to grow.
The tree seems weak and withering.

Just like us when you found us, with no hope left in our heart, no light in our faces.
With darkness surrounding us, thorns all over making us to fail to make a new step.
We were like the seed that fell among thorns.

No one was there to light our path.
No word was there to describe our destination
because our destiny seems undefined.
We were not able to dream for our future,
neither were we able to meet our goals.

You fell beside us like a mother,
So loving and caring, abundant in mercy
and full of compassion and generosity.
You gave us the new chance to dream.
You gave us the hope of meeting our goals.

You are meritorious, but we lack words
to express what our hearts feel for you.
You made us realize that the world is not a pleasant place to be without someone to hold or be held by.

Rivers would stop their flow if streams
were not there to fill her flow.

An ocean won't smile if rain wasn't there to kiss her tears.

No matter how silent we are, just know
we always hold you deep in our heart.

Raindrops may seem very little, but they are helping a miserable tree somewhere in the desert. It is also quenching somebody's thirst in the wilderness.

It may seem little from your sight but
You have changed a lot in our lives.

GOD BLESS YOU ALL
