INTERNATIONAL REPATRIATIONS

DEATH IN AUSTRALIA

Ambrose Australia International Repatriations is an independently owned repatriation company operating 24-hours a day, 7-days a week to organise the safe return of your loved one from all parts of Australia to anywhere in the world.

With a background in the funeral industry, our caring team has the knowledge and experience to help assist you in all aspects of repatriation from Australia. We understand all the processes involved to expedite the repatriation process, follow all government protocols and airline logistics.

Once we are appointed, you will have a dedicated staff member manage the whole repatriation process and they will be your direct contact throughout this process.

We cover the whole of Australia, which is a vast area, and we understand all the different requirements for each local State or Territory.

Working on your behalf, we apply for and obtain the Official Australian Death Certificate, Embassy or Consular documents, Non-Infectious letter, Embalming certificate, translations, Health Department clearances, and airport customs clearances. We also understand the government legislations that may be required for body or ashes repatriation.

Repatriation from Australia usually takes about 5 working days, from time of release from the coroner or hospital. This time frame can sometimes vary depending on government departments processing and issuing of paperwork, and flight availability, but most of our cases go ahead without any delays.

Australian repatriation timeline:

- Family provides death certificate information and authorise authority to release
