Chisel Collection

Rooted in an appreciation for wood and its inherent properties, Chisel is a collection of wooden chairs, stools, and tables with a distinctly contemporary expression, developed with careful attention to detail and comfort. Defined by generous proportions, the design combines ergonomic consideration with precise craftsmanship, balancing a strong character with a compact footprint. Named after the traditional carpentry tool, subtle chisel-inspired details are echoed throughout – seen in the angled, bevelled legs that give each piece a sculptural silhouette and a strong, consistent structural identity across typologies. Available in a wide variety of wood types, colours, upholstery options, and sizes, Chisel's adaptable design makes it suitable for a wide range of domestic and public settings – from living rooms, bedrooms, and kitchens to bars, cafés, and libraries.

Design by Andreas Bergsaker

Andreas Bergsaker is a Norwegian product designer based in Copenhagen. His work spans a wide range of everyday objects, created with a focus on longevity and relevance across generations. Rooted in an exploration of material and form, his designs reference cultural heritage with an emphasis on craftsmanship, industrial processes, and tactile qualities. For HAY, Andreas Bergsaker has designed the Korpus Shelf and the Chisel Collection.

Chisel 85 Lounge Chair

Introduced in 2023 as the starting point of the collection, Chisel 85 Lounge Chair established the family's softer and more relaxed seating typology. Generous proportions, a low organic seat, and a supportive backrest create a warm and inviting lounge experience. Angled legs and balanced proportions contribute to its sculptural character and visually light expression. Available in a wide range of wood types, colours, and upholstery options, the chair is suited to lobbies, libraries, waiting rooms, and a variety of domestic settings.

Chisel 65 Chair

Developed from the original Lounge Chair, Chisel 65 Chair adapts the design into a more upright dining format for use at the table. Refined proportions and carefully considered ergonomics support a comfortable seating posture while preserving the soft, organic character of the original design. Available in different wood types, colours, and front upholstery options, the chair is well suited to both private and public settings, from kitchens and dining rooms to restaurants and educational spaces.

Chisel 35 Bar Stool

Chisel 35 Bar Stool with Backrest adapts the design into a taller format through elongated legs and adjusted proportions, whilst retaining the distinct yet familiar silhouette. A softly shaped seat and supportive backrest provide lasting comfort, making it suited to a wide range of settings, from kitchen islands at home to café and hotel bars. Available in two heights and a variety of wood types, colours, and upholstery options, it can be used individually or arranged in rows.

Chisel 30 Bar Stool

With a lighter and more streamlined character, Chisel 30 Bar Stool combines elongated legs and refined proportions to create a compact and versatile seating format. The open design and shaped seat create a visually light appearance while maintaining comfort for everyday use. Available in two heights and different wood types, colours, and upholstery options, the stool is suited to both domestic and hospitality settings, from home kitchen islands to café and hotel bars. Its versatile design allows it to be used individually or grouped in rows for larger seating arrangements.

Chisel 10 Stool

Reduced to its most essential form, the Chisel 10 Stool combines a compact footprint with a quiet, understated character. A softly shaped seat and angled legs create a lightweight appearance suited to a wide variety of settings, from kitchens and dining areas to bedrooms, hallways, and cafés. Offered in a variety of wood types and colours, its versatile design allows it to be easily moved and brought into use as an additional seat whenever required.

Chisel 20 Round Table

Extending the Chisel design language into a table typology, Chisel 20 Table introduces the collection in a format that retains its soft and inviting character. Defined by a circular tabletop and three-legged construction, it creates an intimate expression suited to a variety of spaces and ways of gathering. The visually light structure allows it to adapt easily across dining areas, kitchens, cafés, and meeting environments.

Chisel 25 Round Table

Featuring four angled legs and balanced proportions, Chisel Table 25 combines a stable construction with a refined and adaptable presence. The circular tabletop allows it to sit naturally across a variety of environments and ways of gathering, while different sizes and wood finishes further enhance its versatile character.

Chisel 29 Round Table

Built around a sculptural base, the table features a circular tabletop supported by a bevelled column, creating a visually light yet distinct expression. Balanced proportions and a compact footprint make it equally suited to intimate dining settings and shared environments. Available in different sizes and wood finishes.

Chisel 30 Rectangular Table

Taking on a more architectural character, Chisel 30 Table combines a rectangular design with generous proportions to create a refined and versatile format suited to larger surfaces and shared use. The clear structure and balanced proportions allow it to adapt seamlessly across both domestic and public environments, from dining rooms and kitchens to cafés and meeting spaces.

Chisel 630 Extendable Table

Designed for greater flexibility, Chisel 630 Extendable Table builds on the collection's more architectural table typology by combining generous proportions with the ability to adapt to changing needs and larger gatherings. Integrated extension leaves allow the table to expand seamlessly while maintaining the table's balanced proportions and overall expression. Available in different sizes and wood finishes.
