Porn Literacy Youth Advisory Group Nominations Information Sheet

Teach Us Consent is seeking young people aged 18-24 from across Australia to join our Youth Advisory Group (YAG).

Teach Us Consent's upcoming porn literacy program will aim to build porn literacy and critical thinking skills through youth-centred, trauma-informed education.

The Porn Literacy YAG provides young people with an opportunity to influence the development of educational resources, campaigns and digital content that support young people to critically engage with online sexual content. Members will share their ideas, experiences and perspectives to help ensure campaign resources reflect the diverse realities of young people across Australia.

Members will provide feedback and insight on topics including:

- pornography and porn literacy
- online sexual content and digital culture
- relationships and consent
- how young people navigate and interpret sexual content online
- educational resources, campaigns and messaging.

Who should apply?

Teach Us Consent is looking to engage young people who live in Australia and:

- Are aged between 18 and 24 years
- Have the ability and time to attend regular online meetings and review materials
- Are interested in contributing to conversations about pornography, consent, relationships and online culture
- Are keen to share their ideas to help shape education resources and campaigns for young people

Applications are particularly welcomed from First Nations young people, young people from diverse cultural backgrounds, neurodivergent young people, young people with disability, LGBTIQ+ young people, and young people from rural and remote locations. Please note that applicants must be at least 18 years of age to participate in the Porn Literacy Youth Advisory Group.

Role requirements

Porn Literacy YAG members will attend regular online meetings between July 2026 and July 2027 and provide feedback on educational resources, campaign concepts and other project materials.

Members are expected to participate respectfully, maintain the confidentiality of group discussions, and contribute to creating an inclusive and supportive environment for everyone. Further info can be found in the draft Terms of Reference.

Benefits, support and remuneration

Participation in the Porn Literacy YAG provides young people with the opportunity to have their voices heard and directly influence the development of a national pornography literacy campaign and associated educational resources.

Members will develop skills and knowledge in areas including leadership, communication, research, critical thinking and co-design. To help create a safe and supportive environment, all members will participate in vicarious trauma training and regular group supervision. Individual wellbeing support with a qualified mental health professional will also be available if required.

Members will receive gift cards at a rate of $60 per hour for meeting participation and agreed project-related activities, including pre-reading and providing feedback on materials (within capped amounts).

How to apply

- Applications can be made via the online application form.
- Applications close at 11.59 pm (AEST), 19 July 2026.
