About me: My name is Darshan N S, and I am currently working as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Mathematics at The National Institute of Engineering (NIE), Mysore. I completed my M.Sc. in Mathematics from the University of Mysore. My research interest is in Advanced Graph Theory and its Applications.

I have eight years of teaching experience at NIE Mysore, where I teach Mathematics courses for both undergraduate and postgraduate engineering students.

I have an interest in teaching all areas of Mathematics, with a special interest in Linear Algebra, Statistics, and Probability. I am passionate about motivating students by strengthening their subject knowledge, application-based problem-solving skills, aptitude, and communication skills, which help them to excel in experiential learning.

In my teaching, I enjoy connecting mathematics with engineering applications, helping students understand the practical relevance of mathematical concepts.
