CERTIFICATIONS Q&A

In late 2025, Oracle began rolling out a new Certification program that involved restructuring existing certificates, removing certificates, and adding numerous new certificates. The following is meant to answer frequently asked questions about this new program, and certification in general.

How is the new certification system different than the old one?

The many changes in the new NetSuite certification program are explained in detail in my Youtube video: youtube.com/watch?v=56xumwT52tM&pp=ygUXbmV0c3VpdGUgY2VydGlmaWNhdGlvbnM%3D

Are my old NetSuite certificates (pre-2025) still valid?

Yes, any certificate you have received previously is still valid.

What happened to the Financial User and SuiteAnalytics certificates?

Those two certificates were discontinued and replaced by several additional certificates. If you have previously attained the Financial User or SuiteAnalytics certificates, they remain valid today.

How do I renew the certificates I already have?

There is currently no certificate renewal system/quiz in place. This will be implemented at some point in 2026, at which point I'll release a YouTube video explanation with a link included in this Q&A guide.

How do I take the NetSuite Release quiz?

There is currently no NetSuite Release quiz available. This will be implemented at some point in 2026, at which point I'll release a YouTube video explanation with a link included in this Q&A guide.

How do I get a NetSuite demo account to practice with?

NetSuite only provides demo environments to consulting agencies, clients, and app developers. For most aspiring NetSuite professionals, there is not an easy avenue to get a demo account until you can start working for a company that already pays for NetSuite.

What certificate should I start with?

It depends on your circumstances and goals. The "Associate" tier of certificates are simple and free to take. So they are a good fit for many brand new users. However, most serious NetSuite professionals will seek out the SuiteFoundation certification as a base credential.

What is the best NetSuite certificate to get?

Again, this is entirely circumstantial. For accountants, you may want to pursue some of the Specialist or Professional certifications related to finance and accounting. Aspiring NetSuite Admins or Consultants will want to start with SuiteFoundation and move on to the higher level certificates. SuiteScript Developers will often start with SuiteFoundation and then move on to the App or Web Services certificates.

The SuiteFoundation is unquestionably the more sought after certification amongst users.

How do I access Oracle's prep courses for the exams?

With the exception of a few very limited free resources that are available on the Oracle MyLearn website, the vast majority of prep courses for NetSuite certification exams are kept behind a pay wall. Users must first purchase an LCS (Learning Cloud Support) Company Pass if they want to access these courses. Company Passes can vary in price depending on the package purchased, but generally cost about $5000 per year per user.

Have the exams changed in recent years, are older prep courses still valid?

Yes, questions on the NetSuite examinations change very infrequently and never all at once. Over the years, certain outdated questions will be removed and a few questions related to newer features will be added. Materials and courses made in the past five years are still relevant to the final exam content.

Which certificate exam is most difficult?

The ERP Consultant exam is considered the most broad-reaching and difficult to pass.

How much does it cost to take a certification exam?

With the new tier system: Associate exams are free, Specialist exams cost $125 each, and Professional exams are $245.

If I get a certification, what job opportunities will I have?

Certifications alone will not guarantee a job placement. The most sought-after criteria for hiring NetSuite professionals is prior experience. Many entry level jobs given for NetSuite positions are (by Oracle and other agencies) are held for top level college graduates. This can be a major barrier for others who are trying to break into the industry. A possible avenue is to use other skills (as well as NetSuite certifications) to gain a position at a client company that uses NetSuite and build up experience with the system while employed there. Many former power users transition to become NetSuite Administrators, Consultants and Developers.

Will SuperTraining assist me in getting a NetSuite job placement?

Absolutely not. SuperTraining makes no promises of future employment after students utilize its courses. It is an online training resource for ERPs systems, not an employment agency. SuperTraining does not provide and will not assist in any job referrals, placements, resume coaching, etc.

How do I sign up for a NetSuite certification exam?

There is an Oracle MyLearn Exam guide on the SuperTraining Resources page that explains how to log in and sign up for an exam.
