

Agentic AI at the Tactical Edge. Cloud Optional.

CENTURION
BY LEGION INTELLIGENCE

Deployable edge system: hardware, software, and sustainment in one purchase.

Centurion is a deployable AI system built to execute agentic workflows in DDIL environments. Single-node or mesh. Offline-first. Cloud sync when permitted.

When connectivity drops, or using it creates risk, most AI stops working. Cloud-dependent platforms fail exactly when teams need them most. The alternative is a DIY integration project: source hardware, configure models, manage sustainment, navigate accreditation. Centurion eliminates that tradeoff.

I can spend my time doing critical thinking and analysis, rather than finding information and formatting a document.”

– XVIII Airborne Corps G2, evaluating Centurion on tactical SIPR (IL6)

BEFORE

DIY integration: Source hardware, integrate software, validate security, manage multiple vendors separately.

WITH CENTURION

One system ships complete. Hardware, software, and lifecycle support under one contract.

Snapshot

- Integrated hardware + software
Not a software license, a complete, field-ready system
- Deploy in weeks, not months
Preconfigured mission sets, reusable workflows
- Any model, no lock-in
Role-based access, approval workflows, audit logging
- Edge-to-cloud continuity
Scale from single node to mesh; sync when permitted
- Simplified procurement
Fixed pricing, known BOM, HBOM/SBOM ready

Governed Action

Human authority preserved at every decision point. Approval workflows and audit logging built in.

Full Workflow Execution

Local models execute complete workflows offline. Agent swarms scale across nodes under governance.

Not a DIY Project

One system, one vendor, one support pathway. No stitching together hardware, software, and services.

How it Works
