

Raven Outcomes – Backgrounder

About us

Raven Outcomes is an Indigenous-led fund manager investing in the well-being of Indigenous communities by transforming how capital flows into projects that matter. We fund outcomes—not just programs—tying every dollar to results in areas like housing, clean energy, health, and employment. Our approach centers Indigenous leadership, values, and priorities at every stage.

Mission

Investing with Indigenous communities to grow solutions that create meaningful, measurable change.

Vision

Thriving and sovereign Indigenous Peoples, communities, and Nations, living in harmony with a healthy Mother Earth.

Why We Exist

Indigenous communities have long faced systemic barriers to accessing capital—especially for urgent needs like safe housing, sustainable energy, or chronic disease prevention. Traditional funding models often fall short, such as being slow to arrive, top-down in design, or rarely tied to impact.

Raven Outcomes was created to change this. Using outcomes finance, we fund Indigenous-led solutions and only release funding when results are independently verified. This ensures accountability, encourages innovation, and shifts power and control to Indigenous communities.

Our Story

Raven Outcomes was born from a clear message from communities: “We know what works—we just need funding that respects our ways.” As the first Indigenous-led outcomes fund in Canada—and the only one of its kind globally—we were created to meet that need.

How We Work

Communities identify the challenge. We co-design the solution. Investors and governments provide capital, but repayment only happens if outcomes are achieved—like lower energy bills, better health outcomes, or more people employed. Independent evaluators verify success, ensuring full accountability and transparency.

RAVEN OUTCOMES

Every project is grounded in Indigenous knowledge systems, governance, and priorities. Our work is about more than funding—it's about trust, self-determination, and long-term impact.

Why It Matters

Raven Outcomes is creating a scalable, culturally grounded way to fund what actually works. Our model:

- Shifts risk away from communities
- Aligns government spending with measurable impact
- Builds stronger local economies and healthier environments
- Supports Indigenous sovereignty and self-determined futures

What Makes Us Different

- First and only Indigenous-led outcomes fund in the world
- Grounded in reciprocity, self-determination, and Seven Generation Thinking
- Structured for transparency, accountability, and long-term results
- Designed to build trust, unlock capital, and reshape how systems serve Indigenous communities
