

During a camping trip, your character hears music coming from deep in the woods.

Write one sentence describing the music as if it were alive. Does it whisper, dance, or call to your character? How does it make them feel?

