Susie Shin
SIM Canada
Board Chair

Dear SIM Canada Community,

It is a privilege to serve you as the Chair of the SIM Canada Board. In presenting this year's annual report, I do so with gratitude to God and appreciation for each of you, our missionaries, partners, donors, churches, and prayer supporters. We are all united together under our mission to reach communities where Christ is least known, and this year we have continued to see how God uses this community to further His Kingdom.

The information reflected in the following pages are more than facts and figures; beyond them, they tell the story of lives that have been touched, communities that have been strengthened, and the gospel that is being proclaimed where Christ is least known. Through your partnership, SIM Canada continues to support workers, equip local leaders, and nurture Christ-centered communities, both here and abroad.

As your board, we are committed to providing faithful stewardship, oversight, and sound governance. We are grateful for the strong financial foundations in place and for the dedication of our leadership team in managing resources responsibly and transparently. Each dollar entrusted to SIM Canada is handled with care, ensuring it supports the mission effectively and sustainably for the long term.

We are continually encouraged by God's faithfulness and by the resilience and dedication of our staff and global workers. As we look ahead, we do so with confidence—not in our own strength and abilities, but in those of the Lord. Together, we remain committed to making disciples of Jesus Christ so that no one should live or die without hearing God's good news. Thank you for walking alongside SIM Canada in this calling.

With gratitude,
Susie

Russell Wolf
SIM Canada
Executive Director

Looking back on 2025, one word rises above the rest: Grateful! Grateful to God, whose faithfulness continues to guide and provide for SIM Canada. Grateful for the missionaries, partners, churches, donors, administrative team and volunteers who all faithfully serve in making the love of Christ known.

The Psalmist reminds us, "Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good; His love endures forever" - Psalm 107:1. 2025 did bring SIM Canada some challenges, and it could be easy for us to focus on those challenges. Through these challenges, God has remained steadfast. His provision timely and His direction clear. These challenges helped us grow: grow as an organization and, even more importantly, grow in our relationship with Jesus.

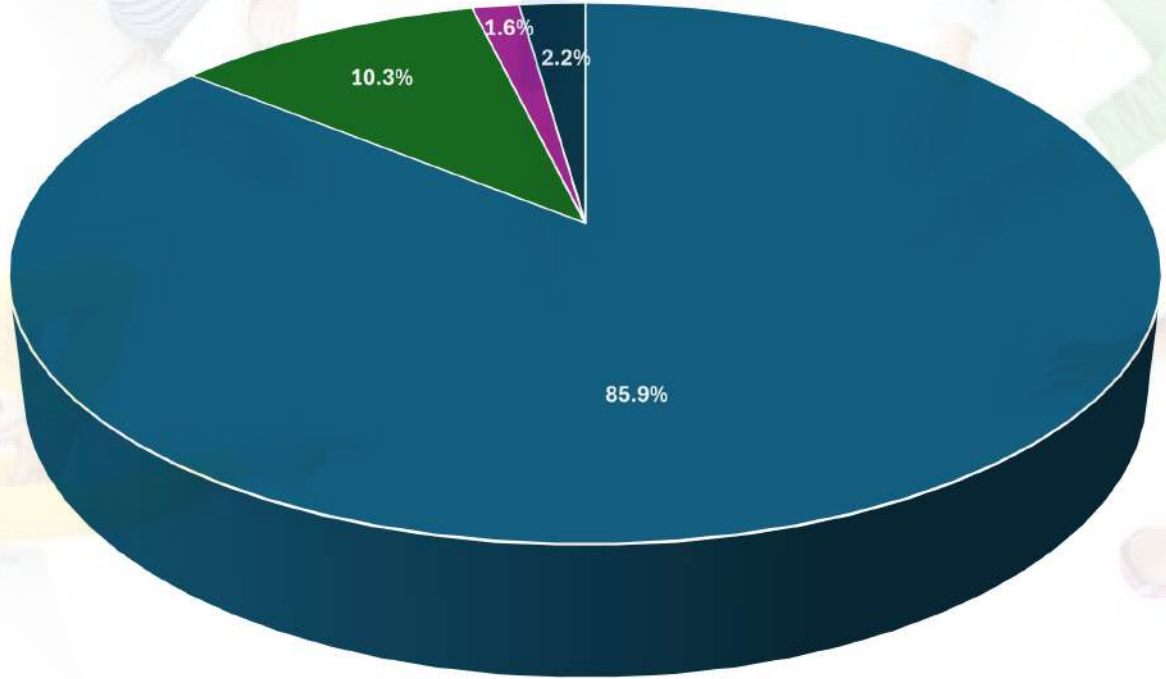

Throughout 2025, God presented new opportunities for SIM Canada to share His love, both globally and here in Canada. These opportunities invited us to trust God more deeply as we strive to fulfill our purpose. God opened doors for new opportunities, new partnerships and new ways to serve our missionaries and the global Church. Some of these arrived after seasons of prayer and waiting, while others came unexpectedly, requiring courage and discernment. We are grateful to God for these opportunities and for how He has prepared the way. Our Lord provided the wisdom, people and resources needed to move ahead.

Gratitude keeps us humble. It reminds us that the fruit we celebrate is not our doing, but the Lord's. SIM Canada's desire is that every story, every sending and every step forward would result in thanksgiving and glory to God. "In that day you will say: 'Give praise to the Lord, proclaim his name; make known among the nations what he has done, and proclaim that his name is exalted. Sing to the Lord, for he has done glorious things; let this be known to all the world.'" - Isaiah 12:4-5

Thank you for walking this journey with us. We move forward with humble hearts, confident that God, who is faithful, will continue to lead us.

With gratitude,
Russell

Hope Beyond the Flames

Amina lived with her husband Kwame and their two little girls in a small village in a West African country. They were farmers. In 2023, God blessed them with good crops. For the first time in a long while, they felt hopeful. They sold three bags of sesame seeds, and Amina earned a bit of extra money selling donuts and bean cakes in the market. Her husband had even purchased a small plot of land in the city, and they dreamed of building a simple home there. Life finally seemed to be turning a corner.

But on December 31, 2023, everything changed. A group of men arrived in the village dressed as military. They appeared to be repairing a broken bridge and asked for water. Amina's husband Kwame helped them, turning on the pump before returning home. But the men did not leave. They lingered around the village.

The next morning, they came to Amina's home and ordered Kwame - and several other men - to go with them. A short time later, the strangers returned and forced all the women and children to lie down on the road from 8:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. under the scorching sun. The children cried and screamed. When the women were finally told to rise and get water, they were then ordered into a large truck. They begged to know where their husbands were. The strangers told them, "They will follow." But as the women were being taken away, they saw flames rising behind them. Their homes were being burned.

Amina and the others were released in a nearby town, confused, terrified, and without anything. Later, she learned what had happened: the men had been gathered, thrown into a large hole, and shot. She never saw her Kwame again.

Amina's life was shattered. Her dreams were gone. With nowhere to turn, Amina tried to return to her mother's home. But her mother had remarried a Muslim man, and Amina was not welcome as a Christian woman - unless she agreed to convert. Amina longed to stay faithful to God. She remembered her Christian aunt in Niger, one of our Dorcas widows' leaders, and made her way there with her two little girls.

Today, she is living with her aunt in Niamey and has become part of the Dorcas family. We have helped her with clothes, a scholarship for her daughter's schooling, and some start up funds for a small business. But the road has not been easy. She continues to search for a way to provide for her children. She often feels torn, wanting to return to her home country yet knowing she would face pressure to abandon her faith.

Amina's story is just one among many. In recent years, countless women in this region have lost their husbands to terrorism. Their lives are uprooted in an instant. They flee to safety, sometimes across borders, with nothing left of the life they were building. There are no words that can fully express the depth of their grief.

At Dorcas, we are reminded daily that each widow carries her own story - stories that require time, space, and loving presence to heal. We listen, we pray with them, we bring food and clothes, and sometimes even bright pink dresses and balloons. In all of it, God remains present.

Thank you for praying for our leaders who walk alongside these widows and for lifting up this young woman and her little girls. We are grateful for the love, stability, and safety they have found with her aunt and within the Dorcas family.

AREA OF MINISTRY:

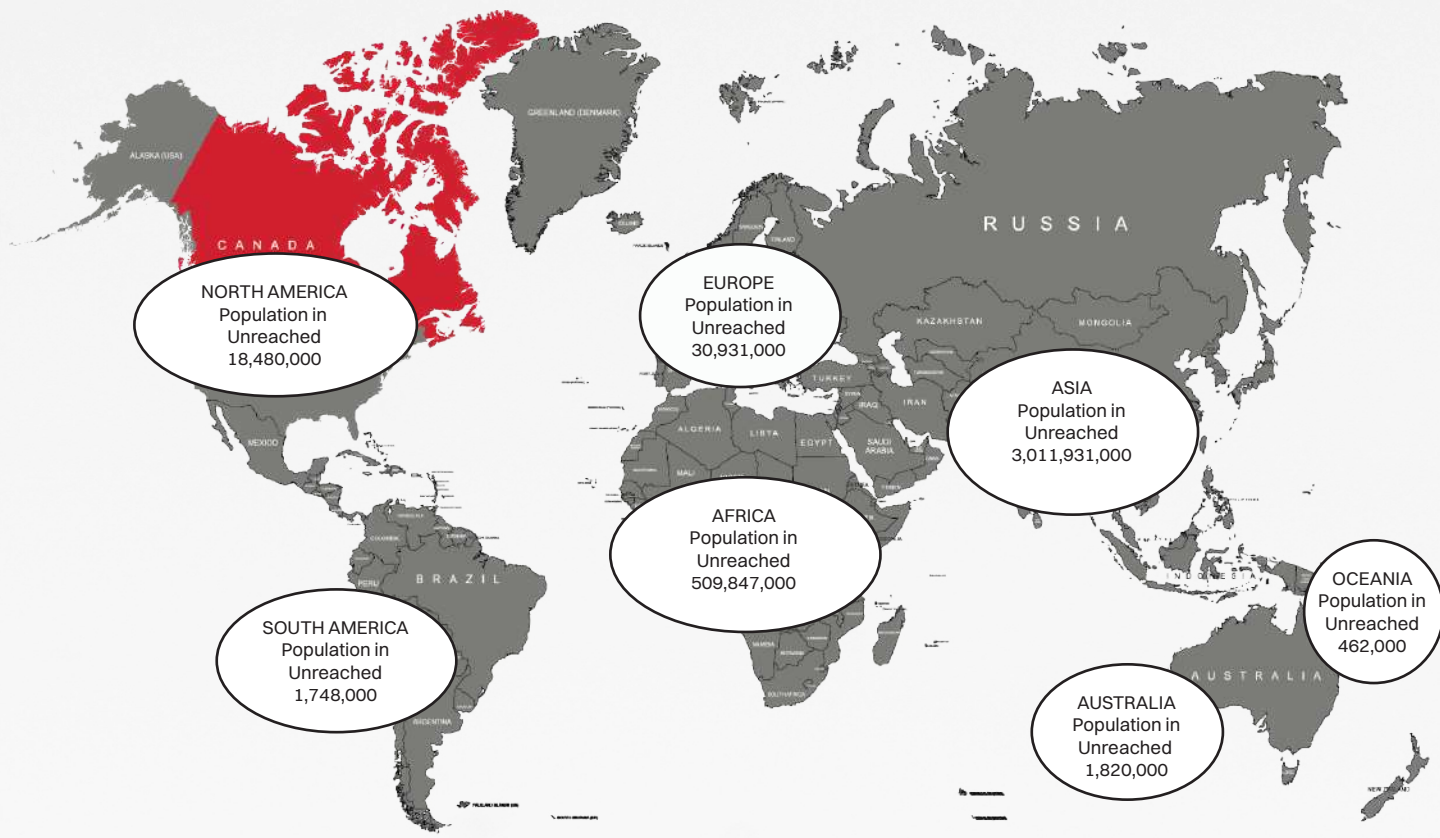

The Dorcas Widows Master Project supports SIM's Dorcas ministries across several countries in West Africa, where widows often face deep isolation, economic hardship, and cultural stigma. Through Dorcas groups rooted in local churches, widows find a caring community where they can pray together, study Scripture, share their burdens, and experience dignity and belonging. Many of these groups also offer practical help such as advocacy, small emergency support, and opportunities to rebuild confidence through income-generating activities.

Gifts to this master project strengthen Dorcas's ministries wherever the need is greatest. Contributions help equip local leaders, provide resources for windows facing crisis, expand groups into new communities, and sustain programs that nurture both spiritual and practical transformation. As women encounter Christ's love through the Dorcas community, many discover renewed hope and become leaders who influence their families, churches, and neighborhoods for good.

Ten Men, One Gospel, Eternal Impact

I was in Abbotsford, BC to lead a chronological bible study for a group of Spanish-speaking migrant workers that introduced people to Jesus. As the bible study took place each afternoon, I used the free time in the morning to connect with some business owners in the area.

One morning, I met a tree farm owner just outside Chilliwack, BC who was eager to have me conduct this same study with 24 migrant workers he employed from Mexico, indicating that March would be the best time to come.

I arrived in the Chilliwack area on Monday morning, and the first study took place that evening. To my surprise, the owner of the tree farm had made posters for the bible study and advertised it well in advance, to ensure that his men were well informed about it.

The men were attentive and pleased to receive the bible study book - and Bible that I gifted each one of them. For some, it was the first Bible they had ever owned!

On the second last night (over the course of six evenings), a few of the men remained to ask questions, including Juan, a young man from Mexico City. My heart was filled with joy when I saw how they were gradually opening up, asking a wide range of questions. It was evident that Juan was sincere when he asked questions about God.

With the final study now upon us, I set up and waited for the 10 men who consistently showed up. Very quickly, questions started to arise. Within half an hour, the questions kept coming, seemingly going on indefinitely! We eventually started the study and by the end of it, I challenged each of the men to trust in Christ for their salvation. Juan raised his hand and responded, "I want to know Him." Another young man also raised his hand. The men also received an electronic bible for their phones, as we promised to stay connected. After explaining the gospel to Juan and the others, they expressed gratitude for this time.

When I returned home the following morning, I received a voice message from Juan while attending my local church service. He struggled to find the right words to express himself. In his message, he spoke Spanish, his mother tongue. It was difficult for him to express the wide array of emotions he was experiencing on the inside. He kept trying to find the words and finally, he said, "I have so many problems and issues in my life, and though it doesn't make sense, I have an overwhelming peace that you can't imagine!" Tears welled up in my eyes as I listened, knowing that the Holy Spirit was bringing this peace to my new friend. Jesus promised in John 14:27 to bring an unexplainable peace to His children and Juan was now experiencing that very peace! Praise God.

Please pray for Juan and those who have placed their faith in Christ. Please pray for them as they continue to work in Canada until they return home to Mexico. Let us pray that God will water the seed, that it will flourish and bear much fruit.

PROJECT NAME:
*Migrant Workers Project
#509033*

SIM CANADA WORKER:
Lane Elliott

SERVING IN:
Canada

AREA OF MINISTRY:

This project aims to reach migrant workers in Southern Mexico and Canada with the gospel. Many Migrant Workers of Southern Mexico who work in Canada have never heard the true gospel. Most are young men between the ages of 25-55. In Mexico, at the height of harvest time, there are between 500-1200 workers per vineyard in 3 that are currently accessible for ministry outreach. Outreach includes the viewing of Christian films followed by preaching the gospel. Audiences average 150-200 people with many often remaining for prayer and Bible tracts.

Peace
