Confidently clear and manage conflicts of interest

Reviewing new business for conflicts of interest is a significant challenge for law firms. The volume of new business to intake is often high, and the review process itself is laborious and time-consuming, whether you're using an outdated software system or a manual workflow. With no clearly defined workflows and information spread across disparate systems, data collection and review can be incomplete, leading to delays and putting the firm at risk of inadvertently taking on clients with whom they have a conflict of interest.

To address these challenges, law firms need to adopt a more centralized and automated approach to reviewing potential conflicts of interest. Intapp Conflicts helps firms identify and manage risk quickly, empowering them to confidently take on new business and implement a process that is efficient, accurate, and compliant.
