Letter from the Board Chair

Dear Community Member:

The Iranian-American Community Center, Pars Place, brings together all generations of Iranian-Americans in and around our nation's capital. Since 2015, with grassroots support of members of our community, we have served as a physical and virtual space facilitating connection, learning and growth.

As we embark on the next step of our journey, moving into a larger space for our growing community, we are excited and committed to expanding our programs and services. Community is more than a mere grouping, more than shared space, it's interdependence, fellowship, coming together, gathering; in short, it is a feeling, one of belonging, home, and warmth. It is the feeling that Rumi describes so beautifully:

دلا نزد کسی بنشین که او از دل خبر دارد
به زیر آن درختی رو که او گل‌های تر دارد

Whether you call the DMV home, or you have newly arrived to our area, we hope that Pars Place becomes your home away from home; a place where you can learn, thrive, find joy, reminisce and find hope for the future for our diaspora.

By working together, we can build a brighter future for our community. We thank those of you who have supported us on our journey and invite new members to join us to expand the first-of-its-kind community center in our area.

With gratitude,

Mojdeh Bahar

Impact Report

A place where age old wisdom and tradition are cherished and woven back into our everyday with the next generation.

Culture • Community • Belonging • Support

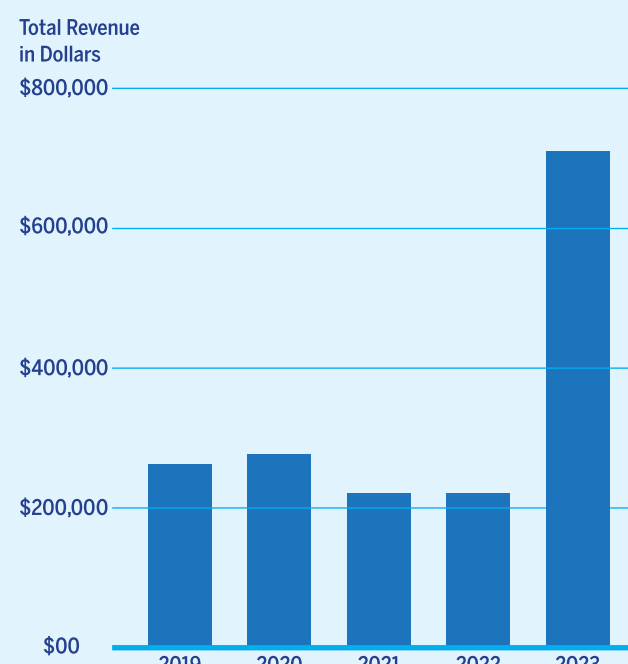

The Washington, D.C. metropolitan area is home to an estimated 85,000 vibrant Iranian-Americans who form a community spanning many generations, ethnic groups, and religions. The Iranian-American Community Center (IACC) is a 501(c)(3), non-religious and non-political organization whose mission is to nurture and empower Iranian-Americans in the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area. Our educational and cultural initiatives, vibrant community center, and programs inspire everyone in our community at every stage of life.

IACC supports people, culture, and community through carefully tailored programs and initiatives that meet the unique needs and desires of our members. We actively engage our donors and participants in the decision-making process to ensure our efforts are meaningful and relevant to our culture.

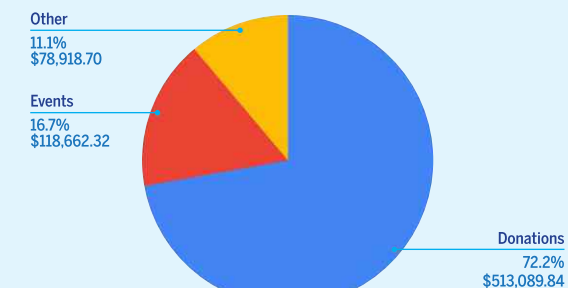

The impact of our work is visible through many positive changes in our community. People who attend our events experience personal growth, cultural transformation, and a deeper sense of support and belonging. And our community is further nurtured through networking events like community dinners and young professionals' groups. These connections have less tangible but equally essential impacts on a sense of belonging, a strength gained from unification, and a comradery that leads to increased support and assistance.

Our forward-looking approach includes a plan to expand our organization and hire staff in the coming years. This growth will enable us to reach more people, implement larger programs, and make an even greater difference.
