1. General

- 1.1 Hageman attaches great importance to the protection of personal data. Our privacy policy is designed to clearly inform you about how your personal data is handled within our organization.
- 1.2 Hageman respects the privacy of all its clients, clients' customers, suppliers, employees, and all other visitors and stakeholders of its website and/or applications, and ensures that the personal information you provide is treated confidentially.

2. Handling or Procedure

- 2.1 Hageman acts in relation to the processing of personal data in accordance with the applicable laws and regulations. The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) is leading in this, which in any case means that Hageman processes personal data in accordance with the purpose for which it was provided. This purpose or these purposes, and the personal data required for them, are specified in this privacy statement under section 3.
- 2.2 The GDPR is leading in this, which in any case means that Hageman only processes the personal data that is necessary for the purposes for which it is processed.
- 2.3 The GDPR is leading in this, which in any case means that Hageman has implemented appropriate technical and/or organizational measures to ensure the security of personal data.
- 2.4 The GDPR is leading in this, which in any case means that Hageman does not transfer personal data to third parties unless this is necessary for the execution of the purposes for which it was provided to Hageman, or if it results from a legal obligation imposed by a competent authority.
- 2.5 The GDPR is leading in this, which in any case means that Hageman is aware of the rights regarding personal data and the company's procedures and respects them.
- 2.6 Hageman remains responsible for the correct processing of personal data. The management of Hageman, consisting of Mr. A.J. Blom and Mr. M. van der Toorn, is responsible for this privacy policy and serves as the contact point for all stakeholders in case of questions and/or requests regarding personal data.

3. Purpose

- 3.1 For all clients of Hageman, clients of our clients, suppliers, employees, and all other visitors and stakeholders of our website or other applications, data is stored in our administration and used to provide our services and products to you or your clients. These are the so-called generic personal data. Hageman processes this data on behalf of our clients. In this context, the client is the data controller, and Hageman is only accountable to the data processor. Therefore, we cannot provide information about these processing activities and refer you to the responsible party for these processing operations. If Hageman processes special personal data on behalf of a data controller, this is always done based on a data processing agreement.

4. Disclosure and Access to Personal Data

- 4.1 In principle, your personal data is only processed by Hageman. We only disclose your data to third parties if it is necessary for the provision of our services and products, and if a signed data processing agreement is in place.
- 4.2 Personal data may also be disclosed to third parties if Hageman is legally obliged to do so by law or a court order.
- 4.3 If Hageman acts as a processor on behalf of a data controller, we cannot provide data or information about these personal data. You should contact the responsible party for these processing activities.
- 4.4 You always have the right to access your stored personal data. Hageman will require valid identification for this purpose.
- 4.5 You also have the right to request that your stored personal data be transferred to yourself or another interested party. Hageman will require valid identification for this purpose.

5. Retention Period

- 5.1 Hageman does not retain your personal data longer than necessary for the purpose for which it was recorded and used in our administration. We adhere to the statutory retention periods. Your generic personal data will be deleted from our administration no later than 7 years after the date of the last update.

6. Data Security

- 6.1 Hageman has implemented all necessary technical and organizational measures to protect your personal data against unlawful processing or loss.
