THE PROBLEM

In order to design and build custom applications to meet their client's specific needs, Gate 39 Media was seeking a data provider with a reliable connection, an agile API, and great customer service.

THE SOLUTION

"Given Barchart's reputation in the industry for offering excellent data feed solutions and great customer service, it was not a difficult choice to partner with Barchart," says Chief Marketing Officer Sarah McNabb.

Gate 39 Media found that Barchart's APIs such as `getQuote` and `getLeaders` allow their team to build applications that their customers can rely on. "Barchart's scalable, flexible, and responsive data feeds can be easily customized by our development team to seamlessly fit into our clients' websites and adhere to their specific branding guidelines," McNabb says. "We're able to select the data shown and see the feed activity immediately – and our clients are always delighted, which in turn, delights us," McNabb added.

The Gate 39 Media team not only relies on Barchart's APIs to supply high-end financial data to their clients' websites, but also relies on Barchart's superior customer service as well. "When we have questions about the data feed, API, or account specifications, the Barchart team is always ready to help," says McNabb. "As an agency, time is of the essence to solve the challenges of our clients, and we've found Barchart to be a most reliable provider in expediting answers and solutions," McNabb added.
