About this apartment

Set inside a period building in the heart of Barcelona, this renovated home pairs classic character with an interior designed for easy, everyday living.

The 86 m² interior is laid out with intention: a bright, open living-dining room flows into an American-style kitchen with a central island, made for cooking, working, or just being. Two en-suite double bedrooms, each with its own bathroom, give everyone their own space, while built-in wardrobes in the entryway and hallway keep everything in its place.

Step outside and the experience shifts entirely: a 117 m² private terrace with a chill-out lounge area and covered porch built for long lunches, summer nights, and having people over. At the back, a wooden cabin adds extra space that flexes to whatever you need, from storage to a room of your own.

A home ready to move into from day one, for as long as you decide, in one of Barcelona's liveliest neighborhoods.
