Shipwell's Ocean Container Visibility
End-to-End Control for Seamless Shipping

Get Full Ocean Freight Visibility Across All Major Carriers & Terminals

Shipwell's Ocean Container Visibility solution goes beyond the basics, giving you complete control over your container shipments from start to finish. Our platform delivers frequent, reliable updates and powerful tools that reduce delays, costs, and administrative burdens, all within an intuitive interface.

Key Differentiators

End-to-End Container Visibility

Unlike many competitors, Shipwell offers comprehensive visibility from the moment your empty container is picked up, through its ocean journey, final delivery, and return to the supplier. Say goodbye to tracking blind spots and ensure your shipments are fully monitored throughout their lifecycle.
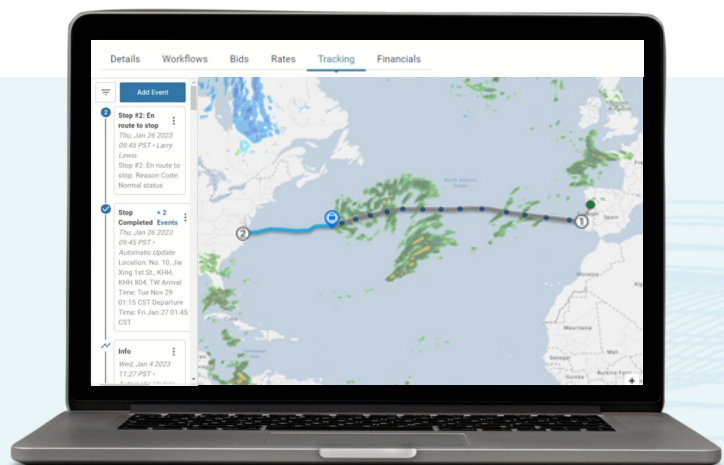

Frequent and Accurate Updates

Stay informed with container updates on average of 1-2 times per day, providing more accurate and timely information than other platforms that only update at key milestones. This gives you the power to act quickly, whether addressing exceptions or optimizing routes.

Proactive Exception Management

Our platform automatically flags key exceptions like rolled cargo, vessel delays, demurrage, and customs holds. You can even prioritize shipments when necessary to reduce costs and prevent delays—a feature not typically offered by competitors.

Seamless Integration with Your Systems

Effortlessly integrate Shipwell with your existing ERP, OMS, or WMS systems through our API and webhooks. Real-time tracking updates are fed directly into your platform, enabling all parties to collaborate efficiently and avoid the miscommunication that often plagues other solutions.

Unified Supply Chain Management

Shipwell's ocean visibility isn't just a standalone tool. It's fully integrated into our broader TMS platform, letting you manage visibility alongside other supply chain functions like order management, carrier selection, and billing. This unified solution allows you to operate more efficiently and make smarter decisions in real-time.

Data Standardization Across Carriers and Terminals

Say goodbye to juggling disparate data from multiple sources. Shipwell's platform standardizes data across all major carriers and terminals, simplifying the tracking process and making it easy to monitor shipments regardless of the provider.

Advanced Analytics and Predictive Reporting

Leverage custom reports and predictive alerts to stay ahead of potential issues. Receive real-time notifications for changes in ETAs, port arrivals, and customs activity. Shipwell's advanced analytics tools ensure that you are always in control, allowing you to proactively manage risks.

User-Friendly, Intuitive Interface

We've designed Shipwell to be easy to use, reducing the need for extensive training and cutting down on administrative overhead. With Shipwell, onboarding is fast, and daily operations are streamlined, meaning you save both time and money.

Shipwell's container tracking saved me 10 hours a week from manually checking shipment statuses. I could never go back!
