The story follows Violet Sorrengail as she survives Threshing and sits on the scales of a terrifying creature, but her world now hangs in balance.With the Aretian wards failing, hope is lost, and enemies close in, making it difficult to distinguish friend from foe. Violet must choose between Violence and decide who or what she's always been.After eighteen months at Basgiath War College, Violet Sorrengail knows it's time to put her lessons into practice. The battle has begun, and with enemies closing in from outside their walls and within their ranks, trust is a luxury she can't afford. Now, she must venture beyond the failing Aretian wards to seek allies from unfamiliar lands and stand with Navarre. This perilous journey will test every ounce of her wit, luck, and strength, but Violet's determination to save what matters most her dragons, family, home, and Navarre won't waver. Even if it means concealing a secret that could destroy everything they've worked for, Violet is willing to do whatever it takes. They need an army, power, magic, and the truth something only Violet can uncover. However, a storm is brewing, and not everyone will survive its fury.Violet Sorrengail's journey beyond the failing Aretian wards has begun. She must navigate unfamiliar lands in search of allies to stand with Navarre. The stakes are high, and every bit of her wit, luck, and strength will be put to the test. Violet is driven by a fierce determination to save what she loves her dragons, family, home, and him even if it means keeping a secret that could destroy everything they've fought for. An army, power, magic, and the truth are all crucial in this battle, and Violet is the only one who can find it.
