

CBRE Global Real Assets Fund

August 2025

Investment strategy

The Fund adopts a 'fund of funds' strategy, where the Fund will invest in allocations of the Underlying Funds. The Fund, through its investments in the Underlying Funds, will gain exposure to portfolios of diversified global real estate and infrastructure assets, including both listed securities and unlisted investments.

Investment objective

The Fund aims to outperform (after management fees and costs, but before performance fees) the RBA Official Cash Rate plus 5% p.a. (Benchmark) over rolling 5 year periods.

PERFORMANCE REVIEW

The CBRE Global Real Assets Fund (the Fund) rose 0.72% (net) in August (AUD, unhedged).

Global real assets posted a positive month. Markets were helped by comments from U.S. Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell at the Jackson Hole symposium where Powell indicated economic conditions may warrant rate cuts. Central bank rate cuts in the U.K. and Australia created additional market tailwinds. Regionally Asia-Pacific posted the strongest returns across real assets followed by Continental Europe as the other outperforming region.

The strongest returns in the month came from real asset stocks across Japan where the local market benefitted from strong earnings reports and a market dynamic seen as favourable to domestic equities. European airports were also strong and have continued to show positive underlying fundamentals. In the U.S., property sectors exhibited strong returns as REITs posted one of the best months of the year while utilities, rail and midstream all lagged.

The unlisted real estate and infrastructure funds reported Q2 valuations on the last day of the month. Both funds delivered a positive 3% return in USD terms (the NAV of the units held). The translation of the USD NAV units to AUD, led to a negative impact for the Fund.

PORTFOLIO POSITIONING

The CBRE Global Real Assets Fund offers investors access to a globally diversified, institutional-quality portfolio of real estate and infrastructure investments through four underlying open-end funds managed by CBRE Investment Management (CBRE IM).

At the end of the period, the Fund held 38% of its investments in listed infrastructure and 27% of its investments in listed real estate, 17% in unlisted infrastructure, 18% in unlisted real estate. The Fund has 55% exposure to infrastructure and 45% exposure to real estate, of which 65% is listed and 35% is unlisted. The Fund targets an investment of 70% in listed real assets and 30% in unlisted real assets, split 55% infrastructure and 45% real estate.

The listed real estate fund is overweight net lease, seniors housing, single-family home for rent, shopping centres, timber, hotels and data centres in the U.S. In Japan, the fund prefers mid-cap diversified, office and hotel J-REITs that are providing earnings growth and resiliency at very attractive valuations. In Hong Kong and Singapore, the fund is overweight, data centres, industrial, diversified companies with a commercial bias and retail. In Australia, the fund prefers industrial, residential and fund managers. In the U.K., CBRE IM favours the storage, residential and select diversified companies. Within Continental Europe, the fund has a positive bias to residential, retail, shopping centres, storage and select diversified companies.

In listed infrastructure, the fund remains overweight U.S. utilities, with broad exposure to electric, gas and water utilities. CBRE IM has an overweight to load growth exposure in utilities, particularly in the U.S. where they see the companies benefitting from power demand growth. CBRE IM is increasingly positive on German exposed utilities following the political certainty and record spending plan for stabilizing the energy market. The fund has a positive view on data centres and European telecommunications towers, although it is underweight U.S. towers. CBRE IM is positive on natural gas midstream assets which are benefitting from the power demand theme. CBRE IM is positive on toll roads, leisure airports, and neutral on North American rail as M&A has lifted expectations. The fund remains structurally underweight emerging markets.

The Fund's allocation to unlisted infrastructure exposure brings diversification and unique access to institutional quality assets with a focus on mid-market investments where the team's extensive network of institutional contacts affords them access to direct deal flow. Its diversified portfolio is well-positioned to weather today's challenging economic climate with a strategy of investing in fundamental infrastructure assets with next-generation themes. As of Q2 2025, the unlisted infrastructure fund had US$4.0bn in gross assets (US$2.9bn net assets) invested in 14 assets. The fund has a significant exposure to digital infrastructure (51%) and transportation (27%) with a mix of energy related assets. Over 70% of the fund is invested in North America, while 28% is in Europe.

The Fund's unlisted real estate fund investment is a globally diversified portfolio of predominantly core assets and has 14-years of operating history. The underlying real estate fund maintains high conviction allocations to industrial, residential and healthcare related segments, such as life science office, where these sectors now account for nearly 90% of gross asset value, while the Americas region represents 45% of the fund. The fund had secured US$509m in commitments in H1 2025 while outstanding redemptions were US$455.2m. The fund has continued to meet all redemptions with no gating. As of Q2 2025, the real estate fund has a cash balance of 8.7% of its US $7.5bn NAV. The team has several transactions expected to close in H2 2025 as it deploys capital into an attractive environment.

MARKET OUTLOOK

Real assets are historically attractive and poised for recovery.

Fundamentals remain solid and the outlook for real assets includes the potential to participate in secularly attractive themes while also enjoying the resilience of the underlying business model. The predictable, recurring revenue models of real asset businesses provide stability when other sectors face heightened volatility. They also benefit from inflation capture which protects revenue streams as prices rise. Balance sheets and leverage levels for the public companies are in a position of strength relative to history. Secular themes remain strong, with Generative AI just beginning to impact the real asset space.

Furthermore, valuations remain compelling. The combination of strong dividend yields, discounted valuations, and strong earnings outlook is a constructive setup for sustainable real assets. Demand for real assets remains high in the private markets and listed markets remain discounted to private valuations. Valuations are also discounted to equity markets where CBRE IM believes earnings risk is increasing, a factor that could lead to continued rotation into assets with more resilient earnings profiles. CBRE IM believes a new cycle for sustainable real assets returns remains ahead.

Private markets in infrastructure continue to offer attractive investments, particularly in the mid-market space. CBRE IM’s team have a robust pipeline of deals with core-plus return potential. Within the private real estate market, CBRE IM’s fund is well positioned with low leverage and cash available to execute deals and capitalise on opportunities. After years of being a net seller, the resurgence of their private real estate fund as a net buyer signals a turn in the investment outlook for the asset class.

The view is retained that CBRE IM has an “information advantage” which when combined with the disciplined use of CBRE IM’s proprietary analytical tools, positions the Fund to deliver continued performance.
